Judiciary probes milk decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is turning to President Nixon's 1971 decision to raise milk prices to see if it was linked to a $2 million campaign pledge from dairy co-ops.

The investigation, to start today, involves bribery, which the Constitution lists as an impeachable offense.

Moving more swiftly now that it has passed the tangled Watergate scandal, the committee completed on Tuesday the presentation of evidence on the settlement of antitrust litigation against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

It also decided to have its staff question Charles W. Colson but postponed a decision on whether the former White House counsel would be called as a witness before the committee.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who overrode strong objections from members who want Colson called now, said he would wait for the staff's report on what Colson says before deciding whether to have him as a witness.

Colson played a major role in the White House's dealings with the dairy industry, outlined in a summary prepared by the Judiciary Committee's staff of the case it will present.

The staff memorandum identifies Colson as the White House contact for the Associated Milk Producers Inc., and says in the spring or summer of 1970 AMPI promised him $2 million for Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

On March 12, 1971, former Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin set milk price supports lower than the dairy industry wanted. Industry representatives called on Colson and other administration officials to set Hardin's order aside and fix a higher support level, the memorandum says.

The crucial part of the staff's presentation centers on March 23, 1971, when Nixon, who had previously been informed of the $2 million pledge, met at the White House with industry representatives and thanked them for their support.

Later that afternoon, says the memorandum, Nixon met with key advisers and decided to increase milk price supports. Nixon has said his decision was influenced by heavy pressure from Congress for an increase.

The committee memorandum says no announcement of Nixon's decision was made and that immediately after the meeting Colson got in touch with the late Murray M. Chotiner. He had left the White House a few weeks earlier after serving as an aide to Nixon, and was then representing the dairy industry.

"Later in the night of March 23, AMPI officials and other dairy representatives engaged in all night meetings ... at which they agreed to make political contributions to the President's re-election campaign and to contribute $25,000 by the evening of March 24," the memorandum says.

During the evening of March 24 Chotiner told several dairymen that former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman expected the dairy industry to reaffirm its $2 million commitment in light of the forthcoming increase in milk prices, which they did, the memorandum says.

"Thereafter an increase in the price support level for milk ... was officially announced." The increase reportedly added hundreds of millions of dollars to dairy industry profits.

Most of the evidence bearing on the dairy industry phase of the inquiry came from the Senate Watergate Committee, but the Judiciary Committee also has tapes of some of the key White House conversations around March 23, 1971.

The committee has asked the White House for 66 taped conservations dealing with the ITT and dairy cases, and may issue subpoenas for them later in the week. It has a subpoena outstanding ordering delivery on June 10 of 45 Watergate tapes.

After hearing the ITT evidence some members said they felt no link had been established between the company's pledge of $400,000 for the Republican National Convention in San Diego and a settlement of the antitrust suit favorable to ITT.

In other Watergate-related developments:

—Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said Watergate probably has undermined Nixon's ability to speed public acceptance of major new energy problems.

—Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, said Monday's guilty plea by former White House aide Charles W. Colson came after a long and tearful prayer session at Colson's home the previous night.

—Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., disclosed confidential White House documents that he said reveal a scheme to reward friends and punish enemies in the awarding of federal grants.

Chaffee, Cape strikers await national agreement

CHAFFEE — Union workers who have not reported to work since Monday were still picketing today at the Chaffee and Cape Girardeau Thorngate Ltd. plants. The plants are being affected by an industry wide strike called Saturday in the men's and boy's clothing field by AFL-CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union.

William C. Hall of St. Louis, director of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of American Union of St. Louis district joint board, told The Daily Standard today that the federal mediator for the union will be meeting Thursday with clothing manufacturers in Washington, D.C. to try to reach an agreement.

"The Chaffee and Cape Girardeau plants will not be able to return to work until a national agreement has been reached," Hall remarked.

C. Frank Adams of Cape Girardeau, vice president of Thorngate, said the contract with the union expired Saturday and the only employes working today were management personnel.

According to John D. Gray of Chicago, chairman of Hart, Schafner and Marx Co., the industrywide strike will affect three of its manufacturing divisions which are Hickey Freeman of Rochester, N.Y.; M. Wile and Co. of Buffalo, N.Y.; and Hart, Schafner and Marx Co., of which Thorngate Ltd. is a division. These divisions, he said, are members of the clothing manufacturers association.

"Industry wide negotiations have been conducted through the organization for several months and were unexpectedly terminated by the amalgamated clothing workers with a vote to strike being announced Saturday," Gray remarked.

The Hart, Schafner and Marx retail stores group, consisting of 253 stores, is not involved in the dispute. Other divisions not involved include Jaymar- Ruby of Michigan City, Ind., which makes slacks; Glen Eagles of Baltimore, Md., raincoat manufacturers; Great Western of Minneapolis, Minn., manufacturers of outer wear and sports clothes; California Sportswear Co. of Los Angeles; and Blue Jean Corp. of New York, N. Y.

Workers are picketing in shifts of 10 and 12 at a time and have blocked three entrances to the plant. A driveway, which allows management personnel to enter, remains open.

Strikers have said they have been warned against commenting on the situation.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

THIS STUDY IS PURE GARBAGE

The good people of at least one typical American city waste "at a bare minimum over $80,000 worth of beef a year and as much as $1 million in mismanaged resources," says University of Arizona anthropologist William H. Rathje.

He knows whereof he speaks because he and his students, in a project that has to be considered above and beyond the call of academic duty, have been poking about in people's garbage in the city of Tucson, sorting through gobs of slimy lettuce, piles of putrid perch and even finding whole steaks.

They report that social stereotypes don't hold up in the garbage can. For instance, the poor eat the most beef, they say, and the middle class is the worst waster. People save pennies by changing their own car oil, yet throw out hundreds of dollars worth of meat in their garbage.

This semester, the students will have gone through 10,000 bags of garbage from 3,500 Tucson households.

If you have the blahs, how would you feel if current news stories told of casualties running into the tens of thousands resulting from battles fought between opposing American armies on the rolling hills above the Mississippi river outside a little town called Vicksburg? This was the kind of thing the people of America had to face during the 1860s and all through the long years of this nation's bitter Civil War. At the end of that conflict, Abraham Lincoln was at the center of controversy. His assassination added to flame of hatred. As far as hardships go, untold thousands of families gave husbands, sons and brothers to the Confederate or Union cause and never heard from them again nor knew their fate.

Alienation of different groups of people, cynicism, secrecy, distrust, violence and all of the other bad elements included in today's list of problems seem insignificant compared to difficulties faced and overcome in past days of our nation's history.

A little goodwill, common sense and hard work over a reasonable period of time have always done a lot to make things better. They can still do the job.

EUROPE'S WOMEN
NOT SO EQUAL

Observers of the progress of the Equal Rights Amendment, which is now five states short of the 38 needed to ratify it as the XXVIIth Amendment to the Constitution, may be interested in a recent study of the status of women in Europe.

The principle of women's equality with men in employment was guaranteed by Article 119 of the 1957 Common Market treaty. Despite progress made in applying this principle, however, a special European Economic Community (EEC) commission task force reports that real job equality for women is still a long way off.

The commission found widely different work patterns among Europe's women, who now account for one-third of the Community's total working population. Half of France's female population between 15 and 65 holds a job, but in the Netherlands, only one woman in four goes to work. In five original EEC countries, all except Italy, more than half the female workers are in service occupations.

In most cases, equality for women is guaranteed by the member states' own constitutions. But although the principle of "equal pay" has been relatively easy to define, says the commission, the definition of "equal work" has been more elusive.

Indirect discrimination, through inequitable job classification systems, is widespread. For example, low salaries are set for jobs reversed exclusively for women. The notion that women are essentiallly part- time or occasional workers has also encouraged their exclusion from many training programs.

Outside the world of work, the European woman's status is still inferior. In most EEC countries, a man is automatically assumed to be the head of his family, while a woman, if she is, has to prove it.

Putting it another way, of every corporate and personal income tax dollar paid into the Treasury, 17 cents goes to pay interest on the national debt."

CAN SUCCESS
SPOIL WORKING
FEMINISTS?

When Mrs. Dorothy Hoffman recently became the first woman president of the American Vacuum Society, she said that one of her biggest problems is that people always ask her if her work has anything to do with the familiar household appliance.

It doesn't - not professionally, anyway. The 20 - year - old society is a nationwide organization of scientists and engineers involved in vacuum technology. Mrs. Hoffman is a chemical engineer.

But the question illustrates, in a small way, the obstacles that still face women moving up in their chosen career fields, even as Mrs. Hoffman's example shows they can do it.

More and more women are entering lower and middle management positions, the pipeline to the top, in business, science and the professions — and discovering that is only half the battle.

"I was promoted to the executive level, now my closest office friend won't talk to me."

"Some of the men I work with still treat me as a stenotypist. They refuse to accept the fact that I am on the same managerial level with them."

"I never liked having a woman as a boss. Now here I am the 'boss lady.'"

These are a few of the more frequent complaints voiced by newly- appointed women executives, according to Mary Frances Shaughnessy, president of The Distaff Group, which provides career training, education and counseling for women in business.

For lady executives, the battle isn't always against men or female co-workers. Sometimes it takes place within themselves.

Women who succeed in the "man's world" of work often become "Queen Bees" who try to keep other women from entering the game, claims a team of University of Michigan researchers writing in Psychology Today magazine.

Whether or not Queen Bees succeed because the system needs "token" women at higher levels, they say, many successful women relish the fact that they are "special."

"The Queen Bee has typically worked very hard to get where she is; having gone through a difficult initiation, she doesn't want younger women to have it any easier than she did."

Another factor is that the woman who is successful in a male- dominated field feels little animosity toward the system that permitted her to reach the top and may therefore be suspicious of the women's movement, "which wants to change some of the rules of the game to let in more players."

Fortunately, the researchers see signs that the Queen Bee syndrome is fading.

As more jobs open to women, it will be less unusual to see bright females in top positions. And as the women's movement gains acceptance, women will be less afraid to associate themselves with it.

AT THE END:
RABBITT HAPPY,
BOND ISN'T

"It was a very successful session," said House Speaker Richard Rabbitt, D- St. Louis.

"Over- all the legislative session was not a successful one," said Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

The governor "just doesn't understand government," said State Sen. Emory Melton, R-Cassville.

With praise and pique, from within and without, the Missouri legislature called it quits for 1974 early today.

Speaking to a news conference less than an hour after the 77th General Assembly adjourned, Bond indicated his unhappiness with some of the last- minute goings on - especially an amendment to one of his pet bills on pre-natal and health care by Sen. Melton, a fellow Republican.

Bond charged that the Barry County legislator's amendment "all but cripples the bill."

'The House delayed action on the one progressive measure we had up this session," Gov. Bond said, "and to say that I am disappointed in the amendment that cripples the bill is an understatement."

Sen. Melton's amendment, which the legislature adopted at the last minute in order to ensure passage of a compromise agreed to by the governor earlier in the week, provides that rules and regulations adopted by the State Board of Health for eligibility to participate in the pre-natal health program must first be submitted to the General Assembly for ratification before they can take effect.

"The legislature has the power to authorize state agencies to adopt rules and regulations," the governor asserted." It can set them by law ... but to say that the rules and regulations have to be cleared by the legislature is delaying for at least a year the program."

Bond said the legislative review of any rules and regulations dealing with the controversial bill is "totally unwarranted and unsound," and he came near to saying he would veto the bill.

Sen. Melton, a fiercely independent Republican, has added the legislative review language to several bills this session dealing with state government agencies.

Asked if he tried to blunt Sen. Melton's attempts in the Senate, the governor replied, "I talked to him specifically about that."

A few minutes after Bond's criticism, Sen. Melton smiled, "I really tried to help him get a handle on these state agencies, and if he doesn't understand that — he doesn't understand government."

"The legislature grants the power to these agencies to make rules, and in order to avoid any abuses of that power — the legislature ought to review the rules and regulations periodically to make sure they don't go beyond legislative intent," the Barry County lawmaker said.

According to Sen. Melton, the rule and regulations that will be adopted by the State Board of Health on eligibility requirements for the new $5 million program "will amount to the same kind of eligiblity requirements we now have on welfare recipients, so the question is — do we make this one giant welfare program? or do we restrict it?"

On other matters, Gov. Bond said a bill drafted by Sen. William J. Cason, D- Clinton, dealing with election campaign changes "probably has as much to do with election campaign changes "probably has as much to do with its eventual defeat as anything else."

He described the campaign financing disclosure bill as the "major issue in an over-all legislative session charged with dealing with reform," and complained "it was unfortunate that the legislature failed to pass an adequate bill."

The governor also criticized as "false economy" a budget reduction of some $30,000 from the Missouri Law Enforcement Assistance Council, claiming the cut would result in the loss of $13 million in federal matching grants later.

Gov. Bond also said that language in a bill to repeal the personal property tax on household goods requiring state reimbursement of lost revenue for local governments is "probably invalid."

He said he would seek advice from Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth before making a final determination on signing the bill into law, but he warned, "the state cannot, and the state will not" reimburse local units of government for lost revenue.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Cason, passed both houses of the legislature by overwhelming votes and is designed to implement a Constitutional amendment adopted by the voters in 1972.

Meanwhile, at a news conference he called shortly after adjournment, Rabbitt said the loss of a campaign reform bill was the fault of the Senate, some representatives and too little time.

Rabbitt charged the upper chamber "held up most important bills until the last minute."

He said he doubted there was any chance for a special session on the reform issue or any other matter.

Rabbitt said the atmosphere in the House chamber in the final minutes of the session was caused by opponents of campaign spending laws and should be put in the context of an otherwise studious and productive four month session.

Highlights of the regular session, Rabbit said, included a "complete open committee meeting" policy that restored the voters confidence in the political process. House committees, he added, are now more reflective of party proportion than ever before.

Majority Leader Kenneth Rothman, D-Clayton, said the session proved "the legislature can develop its own programs and be a co-equal branch of government."

Leaders agreed an alternative to the last minute rush of lawmaking must be found.

INDUSTRY TOOLS-UP
FOR NUCLEAR ENERGY

The harnessing of nuclear energy is requiring a new generation of machine tools to manufactore giant- sized percision parts, according to the Ingersoll Milling Machine Co. Rockford, Ill.

One new machine is a vertical boring machining center with tooling, fixtures and support equipment which will cost more than $3 million. The components of the machine tool are so large, that they will be shipped individually to Babcock and Wilcox's Barberton, Ohio, plant where the system will be erected in 1974.

The other massive construction is a $1 million -plus horizontal- spindle traveling column milling and boring machine for CBI Nuclear Co., a joint venture of General Electric and Chicago Bridge and Iron Co. This facility is presently under construction. Designed for heavy milling, boring, drilling and tapping of nuclear reactor components weighing up to 1,000 tons, it will be shipped to CBI Nuclear's Memphis, Tenn., plant later this year.

MOVING AHEAD

Since passage of the 1970 Merchant Marine Act, the U.S. has shown indications that it intends to regain its rightful place as a carrier of world commerce -- a place to which it is entitled by the fact that it is the world's leading trading nation. American export trade by 1980 is predicted to reach some $125 billion. If this prophesy is to be borne out, we will indeed need a merchant fleet second to onne. However, there must also be the assurance that U.S. merchant ships will be given the competitive opportunity to carry their share of cargo and will have a schedule reliability that can only come from reasonable and permanent transportation labor legislation.

There are now about 80 full and over 110 partial U.S.- flag containerships in operation, the largest such fleet in the world. Large new tankers will be another addition to the new fleet. According to a spokesman for the American Institute of Merchant Shipping, a dramatic increase in U. S. tanker construction is predicted if the Trans- Alaska pipeline for the movement of North Slope oil becomes a reality. It is said the pipeline developers plan to invest $150 million in upgrading present shipyard facilities and to make a total investment of $1.1 billion in 33 new tankers over the next 10 years. The same spokesman reports that plans rre in the works to build six large liquefied natural gas carriers in American shipyards at a cost of about $400 million -- making it the biggest private construction contract in American shipbuilding history.

As our new merchant fleet takes shape, it will play an increasingly important role as a carrier of foreign trade and as a contributor to a more favorable international balance of payments for the U.S. -- to say nothing of its contribution to the national security.

LEGISLATIVE
REQUIRED

Preventive maintenance is something that every wise motorist understands. The principle applies to everything from physical checkups to home appliances -- as well as cars. It also applies to whole industries. For a number of years, it has applied to rail transportation. The railroads have been confronted with declining earnings and obsolescent regulation. They now need a large measure of "preventive maintenance" in the form of congressional action on measures to maintain the health of the transportation industry.

The president of the Association of American Railroads stresses that prompt passage of legislation to solve the nation's freight transportation problems will head off "far greater problems in the future." He declared, "We must move forward now" or face the cost of future solutions that "will be far greater than anything we are proposing today." Other transportation authorities have testified in similar fashion to the urgency of the need for action in the field of transportation legislation. Speaking specifically for the transportation act now before Congress, the president of the Water Transport Association said that this act "represents recognition that the railroads currently have the most serious problems. But these problems are providing early warning for similar problems which are bound to arise in the rest of the transportation industry."

The public and shippers, as well as major competing elements of the surface transportation industry, have indicated extensive support of reforms in transportation laws. By that support, they have shown a preference for preventive maintenance of taxpaying surface carriers before they are faced with the threat of nationalization which would solve no problems, but would place a literally unbearable burden on the nation's taxpayers.

FOOTWEAR FASHIONS
HIT BY MATERIAL
SHORTAGES

Fashion in footwear will take a back seat to the materials available to make them in 1974, predicts The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.

Worldwide shortages of petroleum - derived raw materials for shoe products such as vinyl (PVC), certain synthetic rubber, natural rubber crepe, hides, and color components, will determine styling possibilities, says Herman B. Post, Goodyear Shoe Products Division general manager.

"A beautifully styled shoe means nothing if you can't get sufficient materials to put it together," Mr. Post says. "For the next two to five years designers must consider the availability of popular materials before incorporating them into a shoe style."

Foreign companies face the same supply problems as U. S. firms plus severe inflationary pressures, so foreign footwear costs are rising and imports continue to slow down, according to the Goodyear executive.

Imports will increase only 3 per cent this year to 315 million pairs, according to footwear industry figures.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: The Kind of President Gerald Ford Would Make

WASHINGTON — What kind of President would Gerald Ford make? This is a question we are often asked, as the impeachment of President Nixon becomes more likely.

Ford would not be the brightest President to occupy the oval office, but he would be one of the most decent. There is nothing suave or subtle about him. He would bring an openness and a guilelessness to the White House. He could be trusted.

He would not have as keen a grasp of the paperwork of the presidency as Richard Nixon has. But probably more important, Ford would have a better feel for the human undercurrents.

There is also an all-American quality about him. He has the common touch of Harry Truman, the Easy manner and engaging sincerity of Dwight Eisenhower.

Under Gerald Ford, the oval office would no longer be a storm cellar where the President is constantly engaged in plotting strategy to strike back at innumerable "enemies."

When an aide brought Ford the first news from a UPI ticker that the White House kept an "enemies list," Ford shook his head in disbelief. "If you have so many enemies you have to keep a list," he remarked, "you are in trouble."

He would bring integrity to the White House. He has always refused to accept cash campaign contributions. He has insisted upon checks, which can be properly recorded.

He would be a partisan President, who would attend to his political chores. But he would be able to work in harness with Democratic leaders. As House Republican leader, he had a close workirelationship with the Democrats, particularly Speakers John McCormack and Carl Albert.

Incidentally, the Vice President took the time in Boston the other day to place a quiet, kindly phone call to the ancient and lonely McCormack.

Watergate politics have put Ford in a squeeze. He gave President Nixon a pledge of loyalty before accepting the vice presidency. But he also promised party leaders that he would spearhead the campaign for Republican candidates this year. They needed a leader whom Republicans could rally around. For the President has become a millstone around the neck of the GOP.

Ford, true to his pledge of loyalty, has tried to defend the President. Yet, at the same time, he has sought to divorce the party from Watergate.

The President, according to our White House sources, has suggested to Ford that he tone down his criticism of the way the White House has handled Watergate. The Vice President, in response, has tried to support the President, without completely swallowing the White House line.

Gerald Ford would not be a spectacular President. His style would be Grand Rapids, not Camelot. But he has the warm attributes, which would allow him to sit comfortably on the cold pedestal of power.

THE FORGOTTEN SERGEANT: The Army's slick new advertising campaign, promising enlistees they'll be treated "with respect and dignity," doesn't mention what happened to Sgt. Charles Anthony.

He's a 14- year Army veteran with a wife and eight young children. His wife is seriously ill and one of the children has a critical heart ailment.

He received a routine transfer from Ft. Gordon, Ga., to Ft. Belfoir, Va. He didn't balk at the orders until the condition of both his wife and child grew worse. The doctors said they couldn't be moved.

So Sgt. Anthony asked the Army's Compassionate Review Board to let him stay at Ft. Gordon. But the board, its name notwithstanding, was lacking in compassion. Despite letters of support from doctors at Ft. Gordon, the sergeant was turned down.

He was ordered to report to Ft. Belvoir or take a hardship discharge that would cost him his retirement benefits. Woefully, he obeyed the orders and traveled the lonely 600 miles to Ft. Belvoir.

Still, he believed the Army he had loyally served would realize its mistake and send him back to his family. Instead, he was informed flatly that he was there to stay.

Dr. Peter Cranston of Augusta, Ga., the psychologist who attended the sergeant's wife, told us he warned the Compassionate Review Board that she might attempt suicide if her husband were forced to leave.

The board wouldn't listen and Mrs. Anthony attempted to take an overdose of sleeping pills just as the doctor had feared. Fortunately, she was stopped in time.

But the sergeant, alone and despondent 600 miles from the family who needed him, suffered an emotional breakdown. As we write this, he is hospitalized at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

Footnote: When we made inquiries at the Compassionate Review Board, we heard a loud voice in the background shout: "Don't answer that!" But later the board explained that Anthony was assigned to Ft. Belvoir because of job openings and the nearness of Walter Reed.

RED CHINA'S
DRUG TRAFFIC

Though the Administration continues to deny it, there is overwhelming evidence that Red China is deeply involved in the world drug traffic, as part of its war against civilized values. The evidence is brought together in a recent book by A. H. Stanton Candlin: "Psycho- Chemical Warfare: Chinese Communist Drug Offensive Against the West."

Candlin, a native of Tientsin, North China and a long-time member of the British Foreign Service, summarizes Red China's past involvement in drug traffic. His book is especially valuable because it shows that this involvement continues today.

Candlin believes that the Chinese communists were deeply implicated in the drug offensive carried out against our servicemen in Vietnam. The communists made heroin available very cheaply, because their aim was the subversion of our military, not profit.

In 1972, the Senate Internal Security subcommittee held hearings on narcotics traffic in the world. They received the testimony of Marine Corps Gen. Lewis Walt, who visited many foreign countries to gather evidence. Gen. Walt testified that the Chinese communists were prime movers in the international opium trade.

Refugees from Red China report seeing huge opium plantations on the mainland. It is estimated that the Red Chinese government exports 2,000 tons of opium a year, with 800,000 acres under cultivation.

So far this evidence has been ignored by our government, which wants friendly relations with Peking. But these relations should not be obtained at the expense of our young people and our servicemen whom the Reds are trying to destroy through narcotics. HLH

Campaign spending may be made public

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — An initiative petition drive to place campaign spending reform before voters in November has drawn varied response from elected state officers.

While Gov. Christopher S. Bond, Lt. Gov. William C. Phelps and Auditor John Ashcroft, the only state officer seeking election this year, have endorsed the petition drive, fellow Republican Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth is witholding a decision until reading the petition.

Of the two Democratic state officials, Treasurer James Spainhower is expected to endorse the measure with reservations Friday and Secretary of State James Kirkpatrick, Missouri's chief election official, has said the legislature, which failed to pass a campaign spending reform bill last session, should be given another chance.

The initiative drive if successful, Kirkpatrick said, would cost about $150,000 to place the long and complex proposition on the ballot. He said the legislative process will be the best way of obtaining a workable reform law.

Bond, who endorsed the drive after studying the petition, has refused to call a special session of the legislature for reconsideration of reform as requested by House Speaker Richard J. Rabbitt, D-St. Louis. At the National Governor's Conference in Seattle Tuesday, Bond again reiterated that stance, saying the legislature had been given three chances to pass reform, in 1973, during the special session and this year. The governor said he now believes the initiative drive will be the only way to get reform for the state.

The drive, sponsored by Reps. Steve Ossmeyer, D-St. Louis, John Buechner, R-Kirkwood, George Donegan, R-Springfield, and others along with the Missourians for Honest Elections, needs nearly 65,000 signatures in seven of the state's 10 congressional districts by July 5 to place the proposition on the ballot.

Some officials, including Bond, have expressed doubt that sufficient signatures can be obtained before the deadline, and Senate President pro tem William J. Cason, D-Clinton, has promised to make campaign spending reform a top priority when the legislature convenes next January.

The proposal, if it gains majority approval in November, would go into effect Jan. 1, requiring candidates and political committees to file two reports prior to elections and one afterward.

Records would be required for all contributions although only those of $25 or more would have to be publically reported. Cash receipts would be necessary for all cash contributions over $50.

Labor unions, banks and trust companies would not be permitted to contribute, but their officers could voluntarily contribute through non-profit corporations.

The proposal would limit individual contributions to any candidate to $10,000 or 20 per cent of total campaign expenditure of the candidate, and would limit the candidate or his family to a $35,000 contribution to a campaign, either primary or general. In addition, a person or organization would be limited to a total yearly political contribution of $50,000 for all candidates.

The bill would permit a candidate to spend 25 cents per person voting in the previous state, district or county election or 12 cents for each resident in the state, district or county.

PSC member halts KC rate hearings

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Public Service Commission member who cast the only dissenting vote when the PSC called for new hearings in the Kansas City Power and Light Co., rate case, says he believes the Jackson County Circuit Court may have exceeded its jurisdiction when it overturned the recent rate increase approval.

"Surely every order of this commission is not subject to immediate reveral on substantive issues," Commissioner A. Robert Pierce Jr. said in his dissent, made public Tuesday.

He suggested the state appeal the circuit court order to determine, whether the court had jurisdiction in the matter. The PSC had voted earlier this week, after the court order, to set aside its approval of the $23.8 million rate increase and hold new hearings on June 13.

The issue at hand, Pierce said, is whether Jackson County officials can raise the issues set out in their "after-hearing" briefs, one of which accused the PSC of "sandbagging" the county by authorizing a larger rate hike than initially sought by the utility.

County officials, he added, did not object when testimony was introduced showing that the utility would have a revenue deficiency of $27.6 million.

Syria, Israel sign disengagement papers

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Syria and Israel today signed the documents outlining the procedure for disengagement of their forces on the Golan Heights.

The signing by Gen. Herzl Shafir of Israel and Gen. Adnan Tayara of Syria cleared the way for their forces to begin pulling back within 24 hours.

The signing also gave the goahead for the return of all prisoners of war still held by each side from the October war. The International Committee of the Red Cross said 367 Syrians, 10 Iraqis and five Moroccans were to be flown to Damascus Thursday morning in exchange for 56 Israelis.

Syria exchanged 12 wounded Israelis on Saturday for 25 wounded Syrians and one Moroccan.

Shafir and Tayara negotiated the "operational protocol" they signed today in eight hours of talks last Saturday, Sunday and Monday. It establishes the procedures and timetables to carry out the truce accord and disengagement agreement negotiated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, which the two generals signed last Friday.

Lt. Gen. Ensio Siilasvuo of Finland, whose United Nations peacekeeping troops will man the buffer zone between Syrian and Israeli forces on the Golan Heights, said he was "confident that the disengagement plan will be carried out without complications."

The conference is expected to resume during the summer or fall.

After he spoke, the Finnish general shook hands with the members of the Syrian and Israeli delegations. The two delegations reportedly talked only through Siilasvuo during their negotiations, and there was no conversation between them today.

Ann Landers

Suicidal persons should remember their families

Dear Ann Landers: I am a fairly attractive woman in my middle forties. To the outside world I appear to have everything a woman could want -- a lovely home, beautiful children, a successful husband, and I've even excelled in sports and have won some trophies. No one would suspect that I've gone through periods of severe depression and about two years ago attempted suicide.

I have something important to say to the readers of your column who may have at any time contemplated taking their lives. The information I am about to pass along for free cost me $3,000 in psychiatric bills.

The next time you look longingly at that handgun, or that bottle of pills, or a bridge or window you believe will put an end to your agonies, remember the husband or wife or children or parents you would leave behind. No matter how blameless they may be, they will always think it was their fault that you killed yourself. All the rationalization in the world won't change it. They will carry to their graves the thought that something they did, or failed to do, caused you to take your life.

Do you want to place such a burden on your loved ones? If you commit suicide you'll surely do it. -- Thank God I Didn't.

Dear Friend: The impact of any given letter is, of course, an unknown quantity, but I can tell you for certain that your letter prevented at least one suicide someplace in the world today. Thank you for writing it.

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you won't think this is too far-out to print, but I need an answer. My girlfriend confided in me that since her husband returned from a trip up north their sex life has improved 100 per cent. The "secret," she said, is something he bought for $40 a half pound - powdered mountain-goat horns.

He mixes a half teaspoon of the stuff with a glass of water and drinks it just before he goes to bed. She claims it has performed miracles in their bedroom. I asked if she could spare a little, because my husband has been "too tired" or "too busy" for the last six weeks.

Yesterday when I suggested to Arnie that he try it, he laughed in my face. How come it works for my friend if it's "phony" as Arnie insists? Please check with your experts and let me know. - Cold Feet.

Dear Feet: My "experts" tell me that once the horns are off the goat they are useless, except as wall decorations - if you like that sort of thing.

"Love potions" have for centuries produced a neat income for hucksters. Since all sex activities begin in the mind, anything a person believes in could bring about the desired results. If you can sell Arnie on the stuff it might work for him, too. But he sounds too smart for such hogwash.

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the teen-ager whose dad wouldn't let her drive the car for six months because somebody dented the fender (and there was no insurance) made me realize what a difference there is in fathers.

I, too, had just gotten my driver's license. It was a rainy night and I lost control of the car. I hit an abutment and our 1973 sedan was nearly totalled. The repair bill was about $2,000.

My dad said one thing to me: "Thank God you are all right. I can always buy another car, but I could never buy another daughter." - Lucky Me

Dear You: Double lucky, you mean. Thanks for a heart-warmer.

A no-nonsense approach on how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangements. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marraige - What to Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Election, fiscal reforms key campaign issues

Election and fiscal reforms are the key issues in the campaign of Thomas B. Curtis of St. Louis, who is running for the U.S. Senate. Curtis said Tuesday in an interview in Sikeston that reforms are needed because "the Congress of the United States hasn't been functioning."

Curtis, a conservative Republican, stopped in Sikeston during a swing through Southeast Missouri to talk with the people and find out what they want.

He says people have been telling him that they want the U.S. Congress to get back in the act. "A great deal of attention has been directed towards the president," Curtis said, "but when you analyze the problems, it is Congress that is failing." He added that issues are now getting bogged down in Congress and it is time for reforms, and time to get the voice of conservatism back in the picture.

He wants to get some of the power back to Missouri and local communities. In the process, he believes, the federal government will function better.

"I'm trying to appeal to Missouri Democrats," Curtis said, "who believe in a state and local government, rather than a big federal government." He added that while he is a state candidate, Sen. Thomas Eagleton has become a national Democrat."

Thomas B. Curtis

Congress has been moving the federal government more and more into peoples' affairs, he said. Curtis wants to reverse this trend.

Watergate is one of the issues that has Congress bogged down, he said. He added that Congress is going "to dawdle until the fall election on this issue." In his travels, Curtis has found that people are fed up with the issue of Watergate and just want to "get it over with" one way or another, because in the meantime Congress has been neglecting its other responsiblities.

"I say Thank God for Watergate," Curtis said; "because it has shown people what happens when you concentrate the power in the executive branch." Curtis feels it is a great issue for him, because he has been arguing for election reforms for many years.

He added that he did have to "bear some of the brunt of Watergate" because he is a Republican. But he was quick to add "that is why I am pointing out that the same stuff was going on under the Johnson and Kennedy administrations and that it is the fault of a system.

"It's beginning to be more apparent that they don't have the evidence," Curtis said. He urged the House Judiciary Committee that if they have the evidence to bring it out and get it over with.

Election reforms are Curtis' key issue. The first thing Curtis would do is push for the establishment of a Federal Election Committee to enforce rules and up-date election laws.

The second step, Curtis would take is to push for development of a Congressional budget. He believes that Congress has lost control of the fiscal budget by appropriating money several years in advance. He would urge that Congress set its budget year by year with no appropriation beyond a single year. He said that while in Congress from 1950 to 1969, he was the leader of the economy block.

The third reform Curtis is seeking is elimination of shortages. "The gas shortage should never have occurred," Curtis said. He added that Congress, not the president, had control over interstate commerce. "People are begin ing to understand it is not the president, but the Congress" that is failing Curtis added.

Curtis believes Congress has been failing because of the lack of leadership and because of the seniority system, which he also has a reform for. He advocates that no member of Congress be allowed more than 12 consecutive years.

Part of the problem, with the citizen's disillusionment of Congress, Curtis said, is that Congress has been bribing the farm group, old age group and welfare group with federal handouts. "This is not solving the welfare problem," he said, and "farmers can do most of this themselves if given a fair return on their efforts." He said farmers around the state have told him they don't want the federal handouts.

Curtis is a native Missourian, born and raised in St. Louis. He has served on several presidential-commissions and was in Congress 18 years. Currently he is on the U.S. Advisory Commission on International and Cultural Affairs and the American Bar Association Committee which is doing an in-depth study of legal education.

Education is one of Curtis's primary concerns. He believes the federal government effect on education has been damaging.

Republicans accused of scare tactics

SEATTLE (AP) — The chairman of the nation's Democratic governors has accused Republicans of scare tactics in warning that Democrats could gain a "veto-proof Congress" in the November elections.

"The term 'veto-proof Congress' is merely a cynical ploy to detract from the most important issues of 1974," Gov. Wendell H. Ford, D-Ky., said Tuesday as sharp partisanship broke out at the 66th National Governors' Conference.

The conference ends today with the annual business session at which the governors are expected to adopt a broad resolution urging campaign reform and other measures to deal with Watergate-type abuses, steps already taken by many states.

The conference also is expected to elect Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, D-Utah, as next year's chairman, succeeding Gov. Daniel J. Evans, R-Wash.

The partisan verbal battle began when Kenneth R. Cole Jr., President Nixon's top domestic policy aide, said during a panel discussion Tuesday morning that election of a "vetoproof Congress" might doom the revenue-sharing program.

Then Gov. Winfield Dunn, R-Tenn., chairman of the Republican Govenors Association, said in an interview he was frightened by the thought of a Congress so heavily Democratic it "would give George McGovern and Hubert Humphrey the opportunity to run our country which they didn't get in the 1968 and 1972 presidential races."

"I take strong exception to a thread of political propaganda which has run through this conference from invited members of the present national administration," Ford told a news conference.

He said he considered it "no less than a rude assault against the integrity of all Democratic members of Congress" by implying they will always vote a certain way.

Short of the three-fourths control needed to pass resolutions, Democratic governors at the meeting decided against trying to put the conference on record in favor of a tax cut to fight inflation or to raise any Watergate-related matters other than a bipartisan ethics resolution sponsored by Govs. William G. Milliken, R-Mich., and Patrick J. Lucey, D-Wis.

Instead, they authorized Ford to report they believe the nation needs "tax reform and relief for middle and lower income individuals coupled with selective budget cuts."

Insurance competition will reduce auto rates

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A report by the Missouri Division of Insurance has concluded that competition will cause reduced car insurance rates in the state as a result of the energy crisis.

"All indications are that competition will force insurance rates down," said the report, which was based on testimony gathered during a day-long hearing here in April and is scheduled for distribution next week. "The system is working."

State Insurance Commissioner Edward Farmer, however, advised in his remarks in the 30-page report, that "the public should know that rates do differ and they should shop to make open competition work."

Farmer said the insurance companies in the state appear to be responding well to the energy crisis "even though they have not lowered rates." But he expressed confidence that rates would eventually drop and promised that his office "will do its utmost" to insure that open competition continues in the industry.

Noting that companies must continue to make profits before reducing rates, he concluded that if inflation continues to keep profit margins low, "the Division of Insurance is reluctant to declare that rates are excessive."

State Rep. James P. Mulvaney, D-Jennings, said he was hopeful that the companies would automatically reduce their rates as a result of competitive pressures. Mulvaney, who co-chaired the hearing with Farmer, had warned insurance officials that evidence of declining accident and fatality rates coupled with lower driver miles indicated the necessity for a rate reduction and threatened legislative action if rates were not voluntarily dropped.

"I guess we'll wait and see if they do." He said of the anticipated decreases, "and if things don't look good by January, we'll go back at them."

Reagan busy as conference ends

SEATTLE (AP) — Taking full advantage of the presence of hundreds of reporters, California Gov. Ronald Reagan managed two news conferences, a speech to a Seattle group and an attack on Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in two days at his last National Governors Conference.

Then, he left for California before the conference closed Wednesday with adoption of the governors' policy positions for the next year.

Before he left, he made clear his opposition to the views of a heavy majority of governors favoring national health insurance, a strong federal land use bill and broad action in the field of campaign reform and governmental ethics.

He also left an obvious impression of a 1976 presidential candidacy, though he said at Tuesday's news conference "it is far too early" for talk about his making the race to have much meaning.

Reagan added that if it continues a year from now, he will have to "see how widespread is it, how deep is it and does it warrant my making such a decision."

Reagan, however, carefully avoided testing any of his ideas among his fellow governors. In recent years, he has found himself in a distinct minority on major policy questions, mainly those of a broader federal role on health or welfare, or for increased federal financial help.

Too many of the governors want to take "a tin cup" to Washington, he told the news conference. "They talk states rights but they want it both ways."

He indicated he would take his "states rights" views to the country in the stepped-up national speaking schedule he plans after his term as governor ends in January. Although he wouldn't say so, the theme also seems certain to be a prime one in any future presidential bid.

It indicates he is banking on a belief there is more support in the country for his ideas than among his fellow elected officials. None of the governors supported his attack on Kennedy's health care legislation, and none backed his criticism of fellow Republican Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon on land use.

That may explain Reagan's eagerness to face the press. His Monday session repeated the attack on Kennedy, while the Tuesday meeting began with a statement on land use.

LL games have bit of everything

The second night of season- opening play in the Sikeston Little League baseball program Tuesday featured a little bit of everything, close games, runaways, sharp pitching, wild pitching, heavy hitting and pitching duels.

As normally expected in early season play, the pitchers were ahead of the hitters in many cases but not in all as evidenced by single-team scores of 13,15 and 20.

The highest total was posted in First National Bank's 20-3 margin over Ziegenhorn in American League play. The other American League contest also was one- sided as Ryan Construction banged out a 13-2 decision over Nunnelee Funeral Chapel.

Leading First National's 20- hit, 20- run attack were Jackson with four hits and Melton, T. Sanders, D. Sanders and Smith with three each. Smith also pitched a three- hitter for the mound win and hit a home run. Drake socked a triple for Ziegenhorn's only extra- base hit.

Ryan Construction also matched its run total with 13 hits, including three apiece by Bickford and Rice, who also had a double apiece. K. Howard topped Nunnelee's five- hit total with a home run. Long was the winning pitcher over Beasly.

The tightest game of the night found Flower Basket besting Sikeston Standard in a hard- fought 1-0 battle, The Standard outhit the winners 2-1, but Flower Basket collected the game's only run by Howard. Lambert and Bell had the Standard hits and Hopper got the lone hit for the winners. McClellan was the winning pitcher, Mike Moore the loser.

Malone & Hyde edged Rotary 5-3 in the other Musial League duel. J. Brashear was the mound winner over M. O'Neal.

The Lions Club entry shaded A&B Oil 2-1 in another topnotch pitching battle over in the National League in which the Lions' Brashears bested King of A&B. Longstreet collected the Lions only two hits, and Hampton had both of A&B's safeties.

In the other National League clash, Pizza Inn piled up a 15-3 margin over Legion. J. Laseter, G. Laseter and Lane scored three runs each for Pizza Inn, while G. Laseter and Murphy were the hitting stars with a home run each for the winners. J. Laseter notched the pitching victory over Ferrell.

Young players watch, hoping a little professional baseball experience will rub off, as Lenny Duncan of Chaffee shows them how to play second base. Duncan played in the St. Louis Cardinal organization for several years. Looking on is Ed Pollard, left, of Sikeston, who played in the San Francisco Giants' organization. Both men displayed their experience at the baseball youth clinic held Saturday at VFW Stadium. (Daily Standard photo)

Chiefs get new announcer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ray Scott, a veteran Columbia Broadcasting System sportscaster, will do the radio play-by-play of the Kansas City Chiefs during the coming National Football League season.

Scott will do the broadcasts for KCMO. He is 54 and first began going football on radio in 1948 for the Pittsburgh Steelers' preseason games.

Scott will be joined by Gus Grebe, the station's radio sports director who was hired this spring after doing Wichita State University play-by-play. Grebe will provide the color.

Fishing winners

Vincent Dupont (top photo) shows his 29- pound catch that earned him a pony as the first place prize in the Rainbow Lake children's fishing contest last weekend at the lake north of Highway 62 on the first blacktop east of Interstate 55. Michael Hepp, left (bottom photo)), and Randy Carter won second and third places in the contest with 25½ and 17½- pound catches. Each received fishing reels for their efforts in the contest for fishermen 12 years old and under.

K.C. pro tops qualifiers

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A one-over par 145 for 36 holes of the Westwood Country Club in St. Louis brought Kansas City pro Bob Stone medalist honors Tuesday as he qualified along with three other golfers for the U.S. Open tournament.

Stone, 43, fired a two-under par 70 in the afternoon session after carding a 75 during the morning 18. His second round was the only sub-par round of the day among the 32 contestants.

Also qualifying were pros Wayne Morris of St. Louis with a 149 and Bradley Schuchat of West Des Moines, Iowa with a 150. Also at 150 was Jay Haas, an amateur from Belleville, Ill.

Home Materials, Hart's winners

Home Materials won a 14-8 slugging match from IBEW and Hart's Bread took a 6-2 decision from Bank of Sikeston in Tuesday night's Junior Babe Ruth competition.

Home Materials banged out 11 hits in its victory over IBEW, including a single, double and triple by Lefler and two hits apiece by Young, the winning pitcher, and Longstreet. IBEW hitters answered with eight hits for eight runs, with Chappell and Barnett collecting two each and Turner cracking a double, but could not avert a mound loss for Pollard.

Hart's Bread batters backed four- hit pitching by Davidson with eight hits and six runs. Kenny Standridge led the way with a double and single and Myrick contributed a double and scored twice. Hampton also had a two-base hit for the winners. Launius led both teams by socking three of Bank of Sikeston's four hits. Braden was tagged with the loss.

The next league action tonight sends Nowell against the Eagles and Elliott-Newton against Davis & Bird.

3 area stars invited to Twin tryout

Two standout members of this year's Sikeston High School baseball team and a former Scott County Central pitching star have been invited by the Minnesota Twins to attend a tryout camp the American League club will conduct June 13-15 at St. Charles, according to Gary L. Howard, 810 E. Gladys St., a Twins scout.

The SHS pair invited to the camp are pitcher-outfielder Mitch Walker and first baseman Jim Saulters. The Scott Central alumnus invited is Morris Karnes of Crowder who now teaches at Scott Central.

Howard said only invited players will participate in the tryouts and that each of the three area standouts have already received letters inviting them to the camp.

Walker, a two- time all-district selection for the Bulldogs, finished his senior season last month with a 6-1 pitching record and a .388 batting average while performing in the outfield when not pitching. His career mound mark for the Bulldogs included 14 wins and only two losses.

Saulters, also a 1974 graduate who played regularly for the last two years, really came into his own as a slugger in the just completed season in which the Bulldogs posted an 18-4 record and reached the regional round of the state playoffs. The 6-2, 195-pound first sacker blasted three home runs in one game and had six for the year while batting .404 with 23 runs batted in.

After graduating from Scott Central, Karnes went on to earn All- American honors as a pitcher for Oklahoma Christian College at Oklahoma City.

Aaron's 16th slam breaks 2 records

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Hank Aaron has become, once and for all, major league baseball's all-time leading home run hitter.

Aaron slugged the 16th grand slam homer of his career—a National League record— against the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night, leading the Atlanta Braves to a 7-3 triumph.

It was the 731st home run of his career, counting regular season, post-season and All-Star games, breaking a tie with Ruth for the all-time lead.

"Jeez, I thought I broke the record last month," said Aaron, with a smile. Then he added, "Now they can start interviewing the guy who is chasing me."

The Atlanta superstar said he hoped things would calm down a little now, and he could get back to thinking about baseball.

"My concentration hasn't been good," he said. "I've been thinking about celebrations and speeches and how to talk to the politicions."

Elsewhere in the National League, the Cincinnati Reds beat the New York Mets 6-3 in 10 innings, the Montreal Expos topped the Houston Astros 5-0, the San Francisco Gaints defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3, the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-0 and the San Diego Padres nipped the Chicago Cubs 6-5.

"I hit a slider, up and in," said Aaron of his grand slam off Eddie Watt, which highlighted a six-run seventh inning rally that broke the game open for Atlanta.

The homer gave Aaron the National League career grand slam record with 16, one more than Willie McCovey. However, he's still a good distance behind the Lou Gehrig's major league mark of 23.

Tuesday night's blast was Aaron's 10th homer of the season.

He has only 29 hits this season but has driven in 29 runs.

Reds 6, Mets 3

Cesar Geronimo drilled a tiebreaking two-run triple in the 10th inning, sparking Cincinnati to victory over the Mets.

Ernie McAnally pitched a five-hitter, struck out six and walked just two as Montreal stopped Houston.

Giants 5, Cards 3

Homers by Gary Matthews and Ed Goodson and standout relief pitching by Elias Sosa carried San Francisco past St. Louis. Lou Brock and Reggie Smith homered for the Cards.

Dodgers 5, Pirates 0

Tom Paciorek slammed a bases-loaded triple to back the five-hit pitching of Tommy John and lead Los Angeles past Pittsburgh. It was John's ninth victory in 10 decisions, The first National League pitcher to win nine games this season.

Padres 6, Cubs 5

Pinch hitter Clarence Gaston's eighth inning homer lifted San Diego past Chicago, ending the Cubs' nine-game losing streak.

'Beer night' brawl erupts in Cleveland

AP Sports Writer

"We could have gotten killed out there very easily," said umpire Nestor Chylak.

Chylak's hand was bleeding; he had been hit on the head with a chair and he held up a beer bottle hidden inside a paper bag.

"This is the kind of fan Cleveland had out here today," he said.

Chylak and his crew of Larry McCoy, Joe Brinkman and Nick Bremigan forfeited Tuesday night's game to the Texas Rangers when drunk and unruly Cleveland fans, reportedly overloaded with beer that sold for 10 cents as part of a promotion night, stormed the field with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning just as the hometown Indians rallied for two runs and a 5-5 tie. The forfeit goes into the books as a 9-0 Texas victory.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox edged the Minnesota Twins 4-3 in 11 innings, the Milwaukee Brewers nipped the California Angels 4-3, the Kansas City Royals trounced the Baltimore Orioles 8-0, the Chicago White Sox crushed the New York Yankees 9-2 and Oakland and Detroit split a twin bill, the A's taking the opener 4-0 and the Tigers winning the nightcap 4-1.

A crowd of 25,134, turned out in Cleveland. The melee erupted when fans started harassing Texas right fielder Jeff Burroughs and the Rangers left the dugout to go to his aid.

Soon, members of both teams were on the field battling hundreds of fans who poured out of the stands throwing beer bottles and chairs and setting off firecrackers.

Martin said the crowd was a mixture of youngsters and older persons and the main reason the fighting seemed to break out was the beer.

The game had been halted in the sixth and again in the seventh.

Tom Grieve's two home runs helped the Rangers to a 5-1 lead. Ed Crosby delivered a run-scoring pinch single in the ninth and scored the tying run on John Lowenstein's sacrifice fly just before things got out of hand.

Red Sox 4, Twins 3

Danny Cater singled home pinch runner Tommy Harper in the 11th inning after Dick McAuliffe led off with a single.

Brewers 4, Angels 3

Dave May's run-scoring single capped a three-run seventh-inning Milwaukee rally. Bill Singer had checked the Brewers on three hits until Mike Hegan doubled to lead off the seventh.

Royals 8, Orioles 0

Al Fitzmorris checked Baltimore on three hits while Amos Otis and John Mayberry homered for Kansas City.

White Sox 9, Yankees 2

Dick Allen blasted his first grand slam homer in the American League and Bucky Dent added a two-run shot in support of Wilbur Wood's seven-hit pitching.

A's 4-1, Tigers 0-4

A two-run double by Aurelio Rodriguez climaxed a four-run first inning that carried Detroit to victory in the nightcap behind Lerrin LaGrow's six-hit pitching. Joe Rudi homered as Oakland took the opener behind Ken Holtzman's three-hit pitching.

NFL grants Seattle $16 million franchise

NEW YORK (AP) — Seattle is the newest member of the growing National Football League family and Commissioner Pete Rozelle promises more action, some of it possibly in present NFL cities that also have fledgling World Football League clubs.

Seattle got the 28th NFL franchise, carrying with it the healthy initiation tab of $16 million, from the owners Tuesday, and joins Tampa, added in April. Both teams are scheduled to begin playing in 1976 although that timetable could be moved up one year, according to Rozelle.

Seattle was selected over Phoenix, Honolulu and Memphis but the losers aren't out of the NFL picture yet. The commissioner said their bids will remain under consideration.

"I wouldn't expect another city to be added this week," said Rozelle, but he added the expansion committee would explore it.

"Future expansion is a totally open deck," he said. "We are not restricting ourselves from going into any city, including current NFL cities. There are no limitations on the cities considered. New York, Chicago and Los Angeles were on our original list as NFL cities to be considered for additional franchises."

Two of those cities have franchises in the WFL and the third, Los Angeles, is home base for the WFL's Southern California club.

"Going from 28 to 30 clubs is probably the next logical step," said Rozelle. Asked if he would favor moving into a city that already had a WFL team, Rozelle said, "Sure, I might be. It depends on the circumstances."

Seattle currently has a new domed stadium under construction.

"It is the 16th largest market in the country and falls into the NFL schedule for the largest cities in the country," said the commissioner. "It is the only part of the country in which we didn't have a franchise."

Rozelle said that the vote to accept Seattle, the lone city recommended by the expansion committee, was not unanimous.

He said the Seattle and Tampa franchises might not be placed in any conference at once. "We're keeping our options open," he said. "We might float them for a year or two. Alignment is a tedious problem."

No ownership decision was announced. Like Tampa, Seattle interests may now formally apply to the league for the franchise.

In Memphis, Mayor Wyeth Chandler said that the failure of the National Football League to grant the city an expansion franchise Tuesday justifies an earlier decision to welcome a World Football League team.

Target scores established for golf amateurs

CLEMMONS, N.C. (AP) — Target scores for amateurs were set at Tanglewood Golf Club on Monday by open champions Johnny Miller and Susie Maxwell Berning. Both shot sub-par golf in the annual "Round of the Champions."

Miller shot a three-under-par 67 to beat PGA champion Jack Nicklaus, who shot 72.

Mrs. Berning had a 73, one under women's par, to top Ladies PGA champion Mary Mills, with an 82.

The competition, sponsored by the PGA of America, sets target scores for amateurs around the country, who will use their handicaps to try to beat the winners' mark. Revenues from the event are used for caddie scholarships and golf-related charities.

Royals shut out Baltimore; Cardinals lose to Giants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Al Fitzmorris is the first Kansas City Royals pitcher to toss a shutout this baseball season. Bob Gibson continues to have his problems with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Fitzmorris allowed only three hits in beating the Baltimore Orioles 8-0 Tuesday night. Gibson lost to the San Francisco Giants 5-3.

Fitzmorris faced only two batters over the minimum.

Amos Otis got the Royals started when he hit a first inning home run and singled in another run before John Mayberry slammed a three-run homer that climaxed a five-run outburst in the third.

Gary Matthews' two-run homer highlighted the Giants' triumph over the Cardinals. Trailing 4-0, the Cards got three runs in the sixth on a two-run homer by Lou Brock and a solo shot by Reggie Smith. Gibson is 3-6.

St. Louis remains at San Francisco for an afternoon game today. Lynn McGlothen, 7-2, was slated to pitch for the Cardinals and Mike Caldwell, 73, for the Giants.

Kansas City plays at Baltimore again tonight and will send Bruce Dal Canton, 3-3, to the mound against the Orioles' Dave McNally, 4-4.

Curtis, who is in New Madrid County jail under $100,000 bond, had failed to secure an attorney from outside of New Madrid County, after the court had granted time for him to do so when he stated he did not a New Madrid County attorney to defend him.

A preliminary hearing on the charges has been set for 11 a.m. June 14.

Mrs. Davis remains in custody under $5,000 bond.

Two East Prairie brothers, Danny Ditto and James Ditto, were bound over for trial in circuit court on charges of tampering with a motor vehicle and felonious stealing. FLEETS STILL HUNT WHALES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Along with 57 other members of the United Nations, this country last year vainly urged that killing whales be suspended for 10 years. Scientists warn that several species of the great mammals are being hunted to extinction.

Since December, however, Soviet and Japanese factory vessels and their flotillas of hunter ships have been in Antarctic waters seeking their annual quotas of whales. But each year the catch grows smaller, and so do the fleets.

Cape man speaks on energy crisis

Phil Kearney of Cape Girardeau, public relations director of Missouri Utilities of Cape Girardeau, spoke on "The American Energy Crisis Part II and Solutions" Tuesday at Ramada Inn to members of the Kiwanis Club.

Kearney, who was a guest of the club several weeks ago, followed up on his previous speech about the energy crisis.

He said there was no shortage of electricity in the Midwest, but rather a surplus of 23 per cent of what was anticipated. Therefore, he said, the public can use all the electricity it needs this summer, including air conditioning.

Next fall, the U.S. will again be faced with a shortage of gasoline for automobiles due to the fact that the refineries in August will be required to produce heating oil for homes and industries, he said. This situation should become more critical during the next 15 years.

The United States has six per cent of the world's population, Kearny said, but its people use one third of the energy of the world. Now other countries are beginning to use more energy and it will be a worldwide problem if things don't improve.

The leaders of this country have known of the energy problems for several years, but have begun to feel it strongly recently, and the country will experience this shortage for at least the next three years, he continued.

The country's new source of energy is electricity, he said. Gas and oil must be used for plastics and may have to phase out their use for homes and industries.

He said the U.S. has been cut back 40 per cent on natural gas for past two years, There have been several inquiries about natural gas in the area, and the company has had to tell company officials that gas could not be guaranteed, but electricity could.

The public needs to know, Kearney concluded, that people can heat their homes and industries with electricity about as cheap as they can with gas and oil.

Kearney was introduced by Jim Will, manager of Missouri Utilities of Sikeston, who had charge of the program.

The Kiwanis will meet next Tuesday morning for election of officers.

Avery honored

Arline Avery, left, who retired Saturday as agricultural representative of the Bank of New Madrid, was honored at a dinner May 29 for his 16 years of service. Sam L. Hunter Jr., president of the bank, thanks Avery for his contributions.

If You Would be Perfect... Come Follow Me

This is the challenge Our Lord gives us. He makes it quite clear that just to believe in Him is not enough. Nor is it enough to merely keep the Commandments.

Over and over again Christ urges us in the Scriptures to strive for perfection. "You therefore are to be perfect, even as your heavenly Father is perfect" (Matthew 5:48) ". . . as the One who called you is holy, be you also holy in all your behavior" (1 Peter 1:15-16).

Yet all too often we excuse our shortcomings and our failure to seek personal holiness by saying "I'm no Saint." We seem to think sainthood is beyond the reach of ordinary people especially today.

But the fact is that Jesus called all His followers to be Saints and the only question is - Shall we accept or reject His invitation to "Come follow me?"

If in your heart there is a desire for perfection - If you really want the joy and assurance of spiritual life - let us send you our free Course of Instruction, "The Kingdom of Jesus." It can give you an entirely new life.

'Carpet equities viewed skeptically'

By CROCKETT SCOTT

As recently as the spring of 1971 some of the hottest corporate equities were "new issues" (initial public offerings of common stock) of carpet manufacturers.

For a variety of reasons -- inflation, the ups and downs of the housing industry, shortages, overproduction and high interest rates -- carpet equities often dipped to lower levels in the market place than common stocks in many other industries.

One of their number which ran into difficulties several years ago but which returned to profitability about a year ago is Aldon Industries of Calhoun, Ga.

Most SEC registered stock market analysts continue to look at Aldon Industries and many other carpet equities with obvious skepticism, if not with a hands off attitude, or utter disdain.

For the brave and the patient, however, and those with cash for high risk placement, the third quarter report of Aldon Industries for the period ending April 30, makes interesting reading.

(The stock is bid presently at about $1.50 per share in the over the counter market, with an asking price of $2.25 per share; while the offering price of the stock several years ago was about $30 per share.)

Net sales of Aldon Rose to $9,224,000 from $7,548,000 in the like period of 1973. Net income advanced in the April Quarter to $357,000 from $252,000 on a per share basis to 22 cents from 16 cents.

Bernard B. Barg, president and chief executive officer, makes the following comments, which not only show the progress of the firm but reflect some of the difficulties of these inflationary and high interest periods common to all industrial firms.

He states, "The company has now reported a significant earnings increase for seven consecutive quarters. Operating income for the quarter before interest charges amounted to $719,000, a 77 per cent rise over the $407,000 reported for the like 1973 quarter.

"The company's improved financial results in the quarter, we believe, primarily reflect Aldon's accelerating momentum. The results were achieved, despite a soft and difficult period for the carpet industry as a whole and despite a sharp rise in interest costs.

"During the quarter our interest payments amounted to $352,000 as compared to $155,000 on the first quarter of 1973, even though the company reduced its bank debt by approximately $1 million.

"An agreement with Aldon's lead banks provided for sharply reduced interest rates through the second 1973 quarter in exchange for warrants to purchase the company stock. The agreement also provided for an increased rate after that time.

"Despite some spottiness in our rate of incoming business during the last seven weeks, our backlog at the end of the first quarter was 27 per cent above the previous year. The spottiness, we feel, was brought about by over ordering due to a fear of shortages during the latter part of 1973 and early 1974.

"Our major concerns at this time are the general state of consumer confidence in the economy, the erosion of discretionary purchasing power due to rapid inflation.

Penney announces income increase

NEW YORK — J. C. Penney Company, Inc., buoyed by a strong April performance, has reported an eight per cent increase in net income for the first quarter over the same 1973 period.

The company had net earnings of $27.3 million for the 13 weeks ended April 27, against $25.3 million last year. This amounted to net income per share of 46 cents, compared with 44 cents in 1973. The 1973 first quarter figures have been restated to give effect, on a polling of interests basis, to the merger in July 1973 with The Educator & Executive Co. of Columbus, Ohio.

As previously reported, the department store and catalog chain's sales for the quarter rose 11.8 per cent to a record $1,453.1 million from $1,299.6 million last year.

Discussing the first quarter performance at the annual stockholders' meeting here, chairman William M. Batten noted the uncertain environment and said the company was "encouraged" by the sales level attained during the period, especially the 14.7 per cent April gain. He explained, "A large percentage of our business is in nondurable goods, such as apparel and household textiles, where sales have held up well."

First quarter results, Batten stated, were adversely affected by continued high interest rates and increased bad debt losses. Interest expense for the quarter amounted to $24.6 million, up 31.4 per cent over the 1973 period, he pointed out.

Excluding the effect of the interest and bad debt factors, the Penney chairman reported that all divisions of the company achieved improved operating results during the quarter.

Batten cited as a positive factor for the retail environment the removal of price and wage controls. "As a result, a better balance between supply and demand of merchandise at all levels is emerging, and that balance is in the best interests of the economy, our company and the consumer," he said.

May sales thus far have continued the encouraging April performance, according to Batten. Looking ahead, he predicted that earnings will be under pressure at least through the first half of the year. He added, "We expect the economy to improve during the second half of 1974. If consumer spending picks up accordingly, our profit performance should improve in the second half."

During the first quarter, the company enlarged store physical plant by 1.5 million gross square feet or 935,000 square feet of net selling space through the opening of 13 retail units. During the comparable 1973 period, store plant was increased by 1.4 million gross square feet or 788,000 square feet of net selling space through the opening of 15 retail units. Square footage for both years takes into account store closings.

Employe motivation difficult

NEW YORK — Eight in 10 corporation presidents in the United States find motivation of both employes and executives a more serious problem today than a decade ago, according to an exclusive study conducted by The Gallagher Presidents' Report, a weekly newsletter to corporate chief executives.

The Gallagher findings are based on a geographic cross section of 251 U.S. businesses.

Company presidents attribute the crisis in motivation to three prime factors: a decline in the work ethic (cited by 64.4 per cent of the presidents polled), the failure of top management to keep lines of communication open (admitted by 46.8 per cent), and the erosive effect of high taxes and inflation on salaries as incentives to workers and executives (blamed by 46.8 per cent). Three in five or 62.1 per cent of the companies now consider the problem serious enough to regularly review productivity in terms of motivational factors.

The motivational crisis shows itself most forcefully in an unwillingness of workers to accept responsibility, according to the findings of the report. This is true in all categories of the work force -- among blue collar workers (scored by 65.8 per cent of the presidents surveyed), white collar workers (noted by 77.1 per cent, and even management (according to 56.4 per cent of the chief executives responding). Presidents attribute low morale among blue collar groups primarily to workers' false concept of the corporate profit motive. Among white collar groups, three in five presidents or 62.6 per cent admit management has failed to keep workers sufficiently challenged.

Salon has new location

CHARLESTON --Margie's Beauty Salon, owned and operated by Mrs. Margie Jones and the Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio and managed by Mrs. Delmar Ferrell, recently moved to a new location, 105 E. Commercial St. Open house at the salon was observed from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

The building, which formerly housed a bank and a savings and loan association, is located next door to the former shop.

An extensive remodeling program, both exterior and interior, was completed shortly before the shop opened at the new location. Harmonizing shades of greens and golds were used in decorating the interior which features a large hair styling department at the front of the shop, and a cosmetic area on the right side. A separate makeup room, lounge area, bath and storage area is housed in the back.

Mrs. Jones has been in business since April 1956. In addition to Mrs. Jones, the shop has two other operators, Mrs. Loretta Robbins and Mrs. Vickie Chandler of Charleston.

Buying must be restrained to fight inflation

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Americans will have to be restrained from buying everything they want to combat inflation, says Treasury Secretary William E. Simon.

Unemployment also may be higher than desirable in months ahead, but that too is necessary for the anti-inflation drive, Simon said Tuesday night.

"A very high rate of inflation is now built into our system. To reduce that inflation to tolerable levels will take time, and it will not be achieved without pain," Simon said.

The Treasury secretary spoke at a meeting of the International Monetary Conference being attended by government and private financial leaders from 21 nations.

Simon said inflation in the economy will last for some time but said he was confident the country could survive it "without crippling effects."

But he said it would be necessary to maintain the economy at less than full capacity, with demand at a level below total potential output.

Simon said that if demand and productive capacity were to continue in balance, inflation also might continue at near the present 12 per cent rate.

"Demand will have to be below total potential output—very close to it, but below," he added.

Simon indicated it will be necessary to have an unemployment rate higher than might otherwise be desired. He said "our labor markets must not be too tight" to help promote a gradual slowdown of the upward trend of pay scales.

A key to restraining demand will be a holddown in government spending, Simon said. He added that he thought Americans would support tough anti-inflation policies because they are tired of inflation.

World News in Brief

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Two colonels reportedly led a military revolt against President Hugo Banzer Suarez late Tuesday night, but the government claims the attempt had been smashed.The rebel troops encircled the presidential palace with armored cars, but apparently gave up after palace guards refused to open the gates. Banzer, an army general, was in Sucre, 360 miles southeast of La Paz.

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Police spokesmen speculated today that the kidnapers of an elderly Irish peer and his wife were holding them hostage for five members of the Irish Republican Army on hunger strikes in British jails. Three gunmen seized the 71-year-old Earl of Donoughmore and his wife early today when they returned to their 600-acre estate in County Tipperary after a visit to friends. The kidnapers bundled the couple into a car and drove off in the direction of Dublin, 120 miles northeast.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — After a 3½-year hiatus, President Chung Hee Park's government today resumed the trial of former opposition leader Kim Dae-jung on charges of violating election laws. The charges stem from Kim's campaign in June 1967 for the National Assembly, but the trial was suspended in August 1970 after one month. Kim ran unsuccessfully against Park in 1971, went abroad after his defeat and was kidnaped last August from a Tokyo hotel and returned to Seoul. South Korea's secret police is generally believed to be responsible for that abduction.

TOKYO (AP) — Gen. Ma Ning, an organization man little known outside China, has been named commander of the Chinese air force in another move to repair the damage to the military establishment resulting from the Lin Piao affair. The post had been vacant since the purging of Wu Fa-hsien, a Politburo member who was implicated in Lin's alleged plot to overthrow Chairman Mao Tsetung in 1971.

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Mike Bruner set an American record of 15:15.33 in the 1,650-yard freestyle at the Amateur Athletic Union's short course national meet in Dallas in April. He swam with a shaved-down head, and took four seconds off the previous record.

MPSC issues proposed phone rate reduction

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Proposed rate reductions of up to 39.7 per cent for some long distance telephone calls have been issued by the Missouri Public Service Commission as an alternative to mandatory toll-free service for extended areas.

If the rates are approved, the cost of nearly all toll calls over a distance of less than 23 miles would be cut, the commission said Tuesday, while slight increases of no more than two cents would be levied on calls over longer distances.

The PSC which developed the rate proposal during a study to set up standards for implementation of toll-free extended area service between exchanges, said the lower toll rates would probably be less expensive overall than mandatory toll-free service between exchanges.

Guidelines for establishment of the mandatory toll-free service on a statewide basis, however were also issued Tuesday by the commission. They set forth the minimum number of customers who must favor the change, the minimum number of calls between exchanges and the minimum rate needed to support the service.

Under the reduced long distance rates, for example, a call of 60 minutes over a 10-mile distance would cost $1.81 instead of the current $3.

Tremor shakes Missouri

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An earth tremor centered near Belleville, Ill., shook a large portion of eastern Missouri early this morning, but apparently did little damage, officials said.

Authorities at the St. Louis University seismological center said the quake, which registered 3.5 on the Richter scale, lasted for more than two minutes but could be felt for only about 30 seconds.

Officials said the tremor apparently awakened many St. Louis area residents, but did little more than shake pictures from walls and upset some furniture.

The case of the sleepy twosome

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Bill and Ted took off for a business convention as delegates-at- large; they went without their wives. Their jaunt, however, which was born out of great expectations, died almost immediately out of monotony.

Almost from the start, the long and wearisome drive across country turned out to be one great big bore. All that Bill and Ted saw for miles and miles were miles and miles.

What's more, to add to Ted's tedium, Bill did most of the driving while insisting that he wasn't the least bit tired. Ted's offer to drive was rejected so Ted "ho-hummed" and went to sleep. And, unfortunately, so did Bill a few minutes later. He dozed off at the wheel and their car bounced off the road into, appropriately, a sleepy hollow.

Badly hurt in the mishap, Ted sued Bill for his injuries.

"Falling asleep at the wheel," insisted Ted in court, "was pure carelessness. It's the last thing a motorist should do, and frequently it is."

"He's got one heck of a nerve," was Bill's answer. "If I was careless in dozing off so was he. He had an obligation to stay awake to make sure that I stayed awake. Since he didn't do it, his injuries were as much his fault as mine, and he shouldn't be allowed to collect."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make sleepy Bill pay sleepy Ted for the latter's injuries?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that when a person falls asleep at the wheel of an automobile and has an accident, his passengers can be held guilty of contributory negligence, so as to bar recovery for their injuries, where they do to sleep knowing that the driver, due to the late hour or the length of the trip, might fall also asleep.

COOKING-UP

The Daily Standard, Sikeston, Mo.
Wednesday, June 5, 1974

By SHIRLEY PRITCHETT

The strawberry season has reached it's peak locally but your local grocery will probably have the berries available for some time and there's still the dewberry, blackberry and bosenberry season ahead, bringing to mind the old -fashioned deep -dish cobblers Mom used to make.

This week's column features a basic berry pie recipe, a never -fail pie crust recipe and some delicious strawberry desserts, fancy enough for company dinners or simple enough for family suppers.

Remember that after picking or purchasing berries, sort them, spread in a shallow pan and refrigerate without washing. Wash and hull prior to using.

BASIC BERRY PIE

Pastry for two -crust 9 -inch pie
3 cups fresh berries
2/3 to 1 cup sugar
2 tbsp cornstarch or 4 tbsp flour
1 tbsp. butter.

Line pie plate with pastry and fill with berries. Mix sugar, cornstarch and a dash of salt. Sprinkle over berries. Dot with butter and then adjust top crust.

Bake at 400 degrees from 40 to 50 minutes.

PIE CRUST

Place ½ cup vegetable shortening in a mixing bowl; add ¼ cup ice water and whip together (electric mixer may be used). Add 1 cup flour. Dough will be rather sticky. Bounce around on floured board until right consistency to roll. This recipe may be doubled or tripled and it always comes out tender and flaky. If some dough is left over wrap it in waxed paper and store in refrigerator until needed. It makes no difference how much you work with it, it doesn't get tough.

RICH STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 tbsp. sugar
3 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
½ cup butter or margarine
1 beaten egg
2/3 cup light cream
3 to 4 cups sugared sliced strawberries
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Sift together dry ingredients. Cut in butter until mixture is like coarse crumbs. Combine egg and cream and add all at once to dry ingredients, stirring only to moisten.

For big biscuit style, spread dough in greased 8x1½ inch round pan, slightly building up dough around edges. Bake in 450 degree oven 15 to 18 minutes or till golden brown. Remove from pan to cooling rack and cool about 3 minutes. With serrated knife, split in 2 layers, lifting top off carefully. Butter bottom layer. Spoon berries and whipped cream between layers and over top. Cut in 6 wedges and serve warm

For individual shortcakes. Turn dough out on floured surface and knead gently half minute. Pat or roll dough to ½ inch. Cut 6 biscuits with fluted cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in very hot oven (450) degrees about 10 minutes. Split shortcakes and butter bottom layers. Fill and top with berries, whipped cream and serve warm.

STRAWBERRY CREAM PIE

1 nine -inch baked pastry shell
½ cup slivered blanched almonds, toasted
1 recipe cream filling (below)
2½ cups fresh strawberries
½ cup water
¼ cup sugar
2 tsp. cornstarch
Few drops red food coloring

Cover bottom of cooled pastry shell with nuts. Fill with chilled cream filling. Halve 2 cups strawberries and pile atop filling.

GLAZE: Crush remaining ½ cup berries. Add water and cook two minutes. Sieve. Mix sugar and cornstarch and gradually stir in berry juice. Cook and stir until thick and clear. Tint to desired color with food coloring. Cool slightly. Pour over halved strawberries. Keep refrigerated until serving time and top with whipped cream if desired.

CREAM FILLING
(for strawberry cream pie)

½ cup sugar
3 tbsp cornstarch
3 tbsp. enriched flour
½ tsp. salt
2 cups milk
1 slightly beaten egg
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
1 tsp. vanilla

Mix first four ingredients. Gradually stir in milk. Stirring constantly, bring to a boil, Reduce heat and cook and stir until thick. Stir a little hot mixture into egg. Return to remaining hot mixture. Bring just to boiling, stirring constantly. Cool, then chill. Beat well. Fold in whipped cream .

STRAWBERRY CHIFFON PIE

1 pint fresh strawberries
½ cup sugar
1 envelope (1 tbsp) unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup hot water
1 tbsp. lemon juice
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
2 egg whites
¼ cup sugar
9 -inch graham -cracker crust

Crush strawberries (makes 1¼ cups). Cover with ½ cup sugar and let stand 30 minutes. Soften gelatin in cold water and then dissolve in hot water. Cool. Add strawberries, lemon juice and dash salt. Chill until mixture mounds when spooned and then fold in whipped cream. Beat egg whites to soft peaks. Gradually add ¼ cup sugar, beating till stiff peask form, then fold into strawberry mixture. Pour into crust, chill until firm and top with more whipped cream and berries.

WALNUT COFFEE RING—It's made with refrigerated biscuits.

Perk up dishes with nuts

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Walnuts do wonders for lots of dishes. A cook who likes to take the easy way and make a coffee ring from refrigerator biscuits can do so with walnuts, butter, sugar and flavorings. This is a delicious coffee cake to serve when friends come for morning, afternoon or evening coffee.

One of the best ways we know to use walnuts is in a cheddar cheese spread made with lots of walnuts, pimiento-stuffed green olives, prepared mustard, horseradish and mayonnaise. Exact proportions for this popular spread are in my cookbook, but if you like to improvise you can make it by taste-and-test.

Another delightful way to use walnuts is to add them to a salad. The other night I had one that I particularly enjoyed when I went to my sister's house for dinner. It was a combination of romaine, orange sections, roasted red peppers and coarsely-broken walnuts, dressed with olive oil, white wine vinegar, Dijon mustard, salt and freshly-ground pepper. On complimenting my sister, she laughed and said the salad was one she had eaten some time back at my house!

WALNUT COFFEE RING

¼ cup butter or margarine
Two 8-ounce packages refrigerator biscuits (10 in each package)
1-3rd cup sugar
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2-3rds cup large pieces walnuts

In a 10-inch skillet over low heat, melt the butter; remove from heat.

Cut each biscuit into quarters; add these wedges to the skillet and toss to coat with the butter.

In a small mixing bowl stir together the sugar, orange rind and nutmeg; sprinkle over biscuit wedges; add walnuts; toss together. Spoon into a well-buttered 8-inch (6-cup) ring mold.

Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until browned — 30 to 35 minutes; if top browns too much before end of baking, cover with a sheet of foil. Let stand about 5 minutes at room temperature, then invert on a serving plate and remove mold. Serve warm with sweet butter. If any of the ring is left over it may be wrapped in foil and reheated.

T-BONE TIMETABLE

There's no quick way to produce a T-bone steak. To begin with, it takes nine months until the calf is born. This is followed by another six or seven months with cow and calf on pasture, plus 330 pounds of grain, 70 pounds of protein and 10,000 pounds of hay, silage and grass before the calf reaches weaning weight of 450 pounds. Then follows another four to six months in the feedlot — 2,200 pounds more grain, 360 pounds of protein supplement and 2,300 pounds of hay, silage and pasture before the steer is feedlot- finished at about 1,000 pounds and is ready for slaughter.

LEANEST NOT ALWAYS BEST

The better quality meat can be recognized by the marbling — flecks of fat throughout the lean portions. Meat with no fat at all wouldn't taste as good or have as pleasing a texture.

Coffee Corner by Cherie

I heard someone tell the funniest story at Bridge Club the other day. It was about some middle aged ladies chatting away & discussing the fact that thanks to wigs your hair didn't have to look thin anymore, & thanks to plastic surgery you didn't have to have those wrinkles around your eyes or the sagging chins anymore & thanks to the new makeups your skin could remain moist & dewy& thanks to contact lens you needn't wear glasses anymore, & thanks to the marvelous new foundation garments you could keep your figure in pretty good shape & so on & on. So, they came to the conclusion that they were a pretty lucky bunch of girls to have been born in this day & age when the miracle of science allowed them to continue to look younger than they were by a number of years, where finally, one lady who had been sitting quietly taking all this in looked up & very softly dropped the bomb & their high spirits with the remark, "But what about our minds and glory be, can I ever sympathize with her! I swear, when you never call anybody by the correct name anymore, feed the same dog twice, find the mail in the refrigerator, forget who you've just dialed on the telephone & has to ask who you're talking to when they answer, go to a party the day before your hosts are throwing it, walk out of the grocery store & have to have them ask you to come back & pay for what you've just bought, when you do these things & a number of others I seem to be getting good at, then, I don't care how much science works on my face & body, I believe someone along the line is going to put two & two together & come up with the fact that there goes Cherie, that ole senile middle aged gal that's dressing like a teeny bopper! Lets face it girls, we just can't get ahead!!!

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, June 5, the 156th day of 1974. There are 209 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1940, the World War II Battle of France began.

On this date:

In 1872, a Republican National Convention in Philadelphia nominated Gen. Ulysses S. Grant for president.

In 1876, visitors to the U.S. Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia got their first taste of bananas. Before, bananas rarely had been seen in the United States.

In 1917, more than nine million American men registered for the World War I draft.

In 1947, Secretary of State George Marshall, speaking at Harvard University, outlined a program for Europe's economic recovery which became known as the Marshall plan.

In 1961, the Supreme Court gave its backing to an order that the American Communist Party must register with the Justice Department.

In 1962, Richard Nixon won a Republican primary election in California and became the party nominee for governor of the state.

Ten years ago: President Chung Lee Park of South Korea ordered all colleges and universities in the country closed to try to halt antigovernment demonstrations.

Five years ago: The Soviet Union convened its international Communist conference in Moscow and hailed it as a step toward unity in a divided world.

One year ago: Sharp fighting was reported in South Vietnam despite continuing efforts to get a cease-fire working.

Today's birthday: Former White House News Secretary Billy Moyers is 40 years old.

Judiciary probes milk decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is turning to President Nixon's 1971 decision to raise milk prices to see if it was linked to a $2 million campaign pledge from dairy co-ops.

The investigation, to start today, involves bribery, which the Constitution lists as an impeachable offense.

Moving more swiftly now that it has passed the tangled Watergate scandal, the committee completed on Tuesday the presentation of evidence on the settlement of antitrust litigation against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

It also decided to have its staff question Charles W. Colson but postponed a decision on whether the former White House counsel would be called as a witness before the committee.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who overrode strong objections from members who want Colson called now, said he would wait for the staff's report on what Colson says before deciding whether to have him as a witness.

Colson played a major role in the White House's dealings with the dairy industry, outlined in a summary prepared by the Judiciary Committee's staff of the case it will present.

The staff memorandum identifies Colson as the White House contact for the Associated Milk Producers Inc., and says in the spring or summer of 1970 AMPI promised him $2 million for Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

On March 12, 1971, former Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin set milk price supports lower than the dairy industry wanted. Industry representatives called on Colson and other administration officials to set Hardin's order aside and fix a higher support level, the memorandum says.

The crucial part of the staff's presentation centers on March 23, 1971, when Nixon, who had previously been informed of the $2 million pledge, met at the White House with industry representatives and thanked them for their support.

Later that afternoon, says the memorandum, Nixon met with key advisers and decided to increase milk price supports. Nixon has said his decision was influenced by heavy pressure from Congress for an increase.

The committee memorandum says no announcement of Nixon's decision was made and that immediately after the meeting Colson got in touch with the late Murray M. Chotiner. He had left the White House a few weeks earlier after serving as an aide to Nixon, and was then representing the dairy industry.

"Later in the night of March 23, AMPI officials and other dairy representatives engaged in all night meetings ... at which they agreed to make political contributions to the President's re-election campaign and to contribute $25,000 by the evening of March 24," the memorandum says.

During the evening of March 24 Chotiner told several dairymen that former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman expected the dairy industry to reaffirm its $2 million commitment in light of the forthcoming increase in milk prices, which they did, the memorandum says.

"Thereafter an increase in the price support level for milk ... was officially announced." The increase reportedly added hundreds of millions of dollars to dairy industry profits.

Most of the evidence bearing on the dairy industry phase of the inquiry came from the Senate Watergate Committee, but the Judiciary Committee also has tapes of some of the key White House conversations around March 23, 1971.

The committee has asked the White House for 66 taped conservations dealing with the ITT and dairy cases, and may issue subpoenas for them later in the week. It has a subpoena outstanding ordering delivery on June 10 of 45 Watergate tapes.

After hearing the ITT evidence some members said they felt no link had been established between the company's pledge of $400,000 for the Republican National Convention in San Diego and a settlement of the antitrust suit favorable to ITT.

In other Watergate-related developments:

—Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said Watergate probably has undermined Nixon's ability to speed public acceptance of major new energy problems.

—Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, said Monday's guilty plea by former White House aide Charles W. Colson came after a long and tearful prayer session at Colson's home the previous night.

—Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., disclosed confidential White House documents that he said reveal a scheme to reward friends and punish enemies in the awarding of federal grants.

Miner denied EDA funds for sewer

MINER – The town of Miner has been denied funding for a sewer system from the Economic Development Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce, on a priority basis , according to a letter read to the town board Tuesday night by Mayor L. F. Wheeler.

Wheeler told the board he had learned that there are eight cities ahead of Miner who are in line for the funding.

The phone was found at 4 p.m. Tuesday by Ronnie Childres, 211 Edwards St., and Joe Aufieri, who lives nearby. The telephone was stuffed under a culvert on the first blacktop road north of the Mini- farms

Chaffee, Cape strikers await national agreement

CHAFFEE — Union workers who have not reported to work since Monday were still picketing today at the Chaffee and Cape Girardeau Thorngate Ltd. plants. The plants are being affected by an industry wide strike called Saturday in the men's and boy's clothing field by AFL-CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union.

William C. Hall of St. Louis, director of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of American Union of St. Louis district joint board, told The Daily Standard today that the federal mediator for the union will be meeting Thursday with clothing manufacturers in Washington, D.C. to try to reach an agreement.

"The Chaffee and Cape Girardeau plants will not be able to return to work until a national agreement has been reached," Hall remarked.

C. Frank Adams of Cape Girardeau, vice president of Thorngate, said the contract with the union expired Saturday and the only employes working today were management personnel.

According to John D. Gray of Chicago, chairman of Hart, Schafner and Marx Co., the industrywide strike will affect three of its manufacturing divisions which are Hickey Freeman of Rochester, N.Y.; M. Wile and Co. of Buffalo, N.Y.; and Hart, Schafner and Marx Co., of which Thorngate Ltd. is a division. These divisions, he said, are members of the clothing manufacturers association.

"Industry wide negotiations have been conducted through the organization for several months and were unexpectedly terminated by the amalgamated clothing workers with a vote to strike being announced Saturday," Gray remarked.

The Hart, Schafner and Marx retail stores group, consisting of 253 stores, is not involved in the dispute. Other divisions not involved include Jaymar- Ruby of Michigan City, Ind., which makes slacks; Glen Eagles of Baltimore, Md., raincoat manufacturers; Great Western of Minneapolis, Minn., manufacturers of outer wear and sports clothes; California Sportswear Co. of Los Angeles; and Blue Jean Corp. of New York, N. Y.

Workers are picketing in shifts of 10 and 12 at a time and have blocked three entrances to the plant. A driveway, which allows management personnel to enter, remains open.

Strikers have said they have been warned against commenting on the situation.

Suttles named acting police chief in Bernie

The council has ordered a complete audit of all city firms, including the police department, due to the changes in personnel.

The council authorized the street department to advertise for bids on a new grader and mower.

Woods announced that all city employes are now being paid the minimum wage and the city is complying with the federal wage and hour act.

A report was read to the council regarding the city -owned solid waste system

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Love makes some people, and ruins others.

* * *

THIS STUDY IS
PURE GARBAGE

The good people of at least one typical American city waste "at a bare minimum over $80,000 worth of beef a year and as much as $1 million in mismanaged resources," says University of Arizona anthropologist William H. Rathje.

He knows whereof he speaks because he and his students, in a project that has to be considered above and beyond the call of academic duty, have been poking about in people's garbage in the city of Tucson, sorting through gobs of slimy lettuce, piles of putrid perch and even finding whole steaks.

They report that social stereotypes don't hold up in the garbage can. For instance, the poor eat the most beef, they say, and the middle class is the worst waster. People save pennies by changing their own car oil, yet throw out hundreds of dollars worth of meat in their garbage.

This semester, the students will have gone through 10,000 bags of garbage from 3,500 Tucson households.

If you have the blahs, how would you feel if current news stories told of casualties running into the tens of thousands resulting from battles fought between opposing American armies on the rolling hills above the Mississippi river outside a little town called Vicksburg? This was the kind of thing the people of America had to face during the 1860s and all through the long years of this nation's bitter Civil War. At the end of that conflict, Abraham Lincoln was at the center of controversy. His assassination added to flame of hatred. As far as hardships go, untold thousands of families gave husbands, sons and brothers to the Confederate or Union cause and never heard from them again nor knew their fate.

Alienation of different groups of people, cynicism, secrecy, distrust, violence and all of the other bad elements included in today's list of problems seem insignificant compared to difficulties faced and overcome in past days of our nation's history.

A little goodwill, common sense and hard work over a reasonable period of time have always done a lot to make things better. They can still do the job.

EUROPE'S WOMEN
NOT SO EQUAL

Observers of the progress of the Equal Rights Amendment, which is now five states short of the 38 needed to ratify it as the XXVIIth Amendment to the Constitution, may be interested in a recent study of the status of women in Europe.

The principle of women's equality with men in employment was guaranteed by Article 119 of the 1957 Common Market treaty. Despite progress made in applying this principle, however, a special European Economic Community (EEC) commission task force reports that real job equality for women is still a long way off.

The commission found widely different work patterns among Europe's women, who now account for one-third of the Community's total working population. Half of France's female population between 15 and 65 holds a job, but in the Netherlands, only one woman in four goes to work. In five original EEC countries, all except Italy, more than half the female workers are in service occupations.

In most cases, equality for women is guaranteed by the member states' own constitutions. But although the principle of "equal pay" has been relatively easy to define, says the commission, the definition of "equal work" has been more elusive.

Indirect discrimination, through inequitable job classification systems, is widespread. For example, low salaries are set for jobs reversed exclusively for women. The notion that women are essentiallly part- time or occasional workers has also encouraged their exclusion from many training programs.

Outside the world of work, the European woman's status is still inferior. In most EEC countries, a man is automatically assumed to be the head of his family, while a woman, if she is, has to prove it.

According to Cipsco News, a publication of Central Illinois Public Service Company, "The federal government budget deficit for the five- year period ending June 30, 1974, is expected to exceed $130 billion. Interest on the national debt has doubled in the past eight years and taxpayers now face an annual debt interest cost of $26 billion. Putting it another way, of every corporate and personal income tax dollar paid into the Treasury, 17 cents goes to pay interest on the national debt."

CAN SUCCESS
SPOIL WORKING
FEMINISTS?

When Mrs. Dorothy Hoffman recently became the first woman president of the American Vacuum Society, she said that one of her biggest problems is that people always ask her if her work has anything to do with the familiar household appliance.

It doesn't - not professionally, anyway. The 20 - year - old society is a nationwide organization of scientists and engineers involved in vacuum technology. Mrs. Hoffman is a chemical engineer.

But the question illustrates, in a small way, the obstacles that still face women moving up in their chosen career fields, even as Mrs. Hoffman's example shows they can do it.

More and more women are entering lower and middle management positions, the pipeline to the top, in business, science and the professions — and discovering that is only half the battle.

"I was promoted to the executive level, now my closest office friend won't talk to me."

"Some of the men I work with still treat me as a stenotypist. They refuse to accept the fact that I am on the same managerial level with them."

"I never liked having a woman as a boss. Now here I am the 'boss lady.'"

These are a few of the more frequent complaints voiced by newly- appointed women executives, according to Mary Frances Shaughnessy, president of The Distaff Group, which provides career training, education and counseling for women in business.

For lady executives, the battle isn't always against men or female co-workers. Sometimes it takes place within themselves.

Women who succeed in the "man's world" of work often become "Queen Bees" who try to keep other women from entering the game, claims a team of University of Michigan researchers writing in Psychology Today magazine.

Whether or not Queen Bees succeed because the system needs "token" women at higher levels, they say, many successful women relish the fact that they are "special."

"The Queen Bee has typically worked very hard to get where she is; having gone through a difficult initiation, she doesn't want younger women to have it any easier than she did."

Another factor is that the woman who is successful in a male- dominated field feels little animosity toward the system that permitted her to reach the top and may therefore be suspicious of the women's movement, "which wants to change some of the rules of the game to let in more players."

Fortunately, the researchers see signs that the Queen Bee syndrome is fading.

As more jobs open to women, it will be less unusual to see bright females in top positions. And as the women's movement gains acceptance, women will be less afraid to associate themselves with it.

AT THE END:
RABBITT HAPPY,
BOND ISN'T

"It was a very successful session," said House Speaker Richard Rabbitt, D- St. Louis.

"Over- all the legislative session was not a successful one," said Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

The governor "just doesn't understand government," said State Sen. Emory Melton, R-Cassville.

With praise and pique, from within and without, the Missouri legislature called it quits for 1974 early today.

Speaking to a news conference less than an hour after the 77th General Assembly adjourned, Bond indicated his unhappiness with some of the last- minute goings on - especially an amendment to one of his pet bills on prenatal and health care by Sen. Melton, a fellow Republican.

Bond charged that the Barry County legislator's amendment "all but cripples the bill."

'The House delayed action on the one progressive measure we had up this session," Gov. Bond said, "and to say that I am disappointed in the amendment that cripples the bill is an understatement."

Sen. Melton's amendment, which the legislature adopted at the last minute in order to ensure passage of a compromise agreed to by the governor earlier in the week, provides that rules and regulations adopted by the State Board of Health for eligibility to participate in the pre-natal health program must first be submitted to the General Assembly for ratification before they can take effect.

"The legislature has the power to authorize state agencies to adopt rules and regulations," the governor asserted." It can set them by law ... but to say that the rules and regulations have to be cleared by the legislature is delaying for at least a year the program."

Bond said the legislative review of any rules and regulations dealing with the controversial bill is "totally unwarranted and unsound," and he came near to saying he would veto the bill.

Sen. Melton, a fiercely independent Republican, has added the legislative review language to several bills this session dealing with state government agencies.

Asked if he tried to blunt Sen. Melton's attempts in the Senate, the governor replied, "I talked to him specifically about that."

A few minutes after Bond's criticism, Sen. Melton smiled, "I really tried to help him get a handle on these state agencies, and if he doesn't understand that — he doesn't understand government."

"The legislature grants the power to these agencies to make rules, and in order to avoid any abuses of that power — the legislature ought to review the rules and regulations periodically to make sure they don't go beyond legislative intent," the Barry County lawmaker said.

According to Sen. Melton, the rule and regulations that will be adopted by the State Board of Health on eligibility requirements for the new $5 million program "will amount to the same kind of eligiblity requirements we now have on welfare recipients, so the question is — do we make this one giant welfare program? or do we restrict it?"

On other matters, Gov. Bond said a bill drafted by Sen. William J. Cason, D- Clinton, dealing with election campaign changes "probably has as much to do with election campaign changes "probably has as much to do with its eventual defeat as anything else."

He described the campaign financing disclosure bill as the "major issue in an over-all legislative session charged with dealing with reform," and complained "it was unfortunate that the legislature failed to pass an adequate bill."

The governor also criticized as "false economy" a budget reduction of some $30,000 from the Missouri Law Enforcement Assistance Council, claiming the cut would result in the loss of $13 million in federal matching grants later.

Gov. Bond also said that language in a bill to repeal the personal property tax on household goods requiring state reimbursement of lost revenue for local governments is "probably invalid."

He said he would seek advice from Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth before making a final determination on signing the bill into law, but he warned, "the state cannot, and the state will not" reimburse local units of government for lost revenue.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Cason, passed both houses of the legislature by overwhelming votes and is designed to implement a Constitutional amendment adopted by the voters in 1972.

Meanwhile, at a news conference he called shortly after adjournment, Rabbitt said the loss of a campaign reform bill was the fault of the Senate, some representatives and too little time.

Rabbitt charged the upper chamber "held up most important bills until the last minute."

He said he doubted there was any chance for a special session on the reform issue or any other matter.

Rabbitt said the atmosphere in the House chamber in the final minutes of the session was caused by opponents of campaign spending laws and should be put in the context of an otherwise studious and productive four month session.

Highlights of the regular session, Rabbit said, included a "complete open committee meeting" policy that restored the voters confidence in the political process. House committees, he added, are now more reflective of party proportion than ever before.

Majority Leader Kenneth Rothman, D-Clayton, said the session proved "the legislature can develop its own programs and be a co-equal branch of government."

Leaders agreed an alternative to the last minute rush of lawmaking must be found.

INDUSTRY TOOLS-UP
FOR NUCLEAR ENERGY

The harnessing of nuclear energy is requiring a new generation of machine tools to manufactore giant- sized percision parts, according to the Ingersoll Milling Machine Co. Rockford, Ill.

One new machine is a vertical boring machining center with tooling, fixtures and support equipment which will cost more than $3 million. The components of the machine tool are so large, that they will be shipped individually to Babcock and Wilcox's Barberton, Ohio, plant where the system will be erected in 1974.

The other massive construction is a $1 million -plus horizontal- spindle traveling column milling and boring machine for CBI Nuclear Co., a joint venture of General Electric and Chicago Bridge and Iron Co. This facility is presently under construction. Designed for heavy milling, boring, drilling and tapping of nuclear reactor components weighing up to 1,000 tons, it will be shipped to CBI Nuclear's Memphis, Tenn., plant later this year.

MOVING AHEAD

Since passage of the 1970 Merchant Marine Act, the U.S. has shown indications that it intends to regain its rightful place as a carrier of world commerce -- a place to which it is entitled by the fact that it is the world's leading trading nation. American export trade by 1980 is predicted to reach some $125 billion. If this prophesy is to be borne out, we will indeed need a merchant fleet second to onne. However, there must also be the assurance that U.S. merchant ships will be given the competitive opportunity to carry their share of cargo and will have a schedule reliability that can only come from reasonable and permanent transportation labor legislation.

There are now about 80 full and over 110 partial U.S.- flag containerships in operation, the largest such fleet in the world. Large new tankers will be another addition to the new fleet. According to a spokesman for the American Institute of Merchant Shipping, a dramatic increase in U. S. tanker construction is predicted if the Trans- Alaska pipeline for the movement of North Slope oil becomes a reality. It is said the pipeline developers plan to invest $150 million in upgrading present shipyard facilities and to make a total investment of $1.1 billion in 33 new tankers over the next 10 years. The same spokesman reports that plans rre in the works to build six large liquefied natural gas carriers in American shipyards at a cost of about $400 million -- making it the biggest private construction contract in American shipbuilding history.

As our new merchant fleet takes shape, it will play an increasingly important role as a carrier of foreign trade and as a contributor to a more favorable international balance of payments for the U.S. -- to say nothing of its contribution to the national security.

LEGISLATIVE
REQUIRED

Preventive maintenance is something that every wise motorist understands. The principle applies to everything from physical checkups to home appliances -- as well as cars. It also applies to whole industries. For a number of years, it has applied to rail transportation. The railroads have been confronted with declining earnings and obsolescent regulation. They now need a large measure of "preventive maintenance" in the form of congressional action on measures to maintain the health of the transportation industry.

The president of the Association of American Railroads stresses that prompt passage of legislation to solve the nation's freight transportation problems will head off "far greater problems in the future." He declared, "We must move forward now" or face the cost of future solutions that "will be far greater than anything we are proposing today." Other transportation authorities have testified in similar fashion to the urgency of the need for action in the field of transportation legislation. Speaking specifically for the transportation act now before Congress, the president of the Water Transport Association said that this act "represents recognition that the railroads currently have the most serious problems. But these problems are providing early warning for similar problems which are bound to arise in the rest of the transportation industry."

The public and shippers, as well as major competing elements of the surface transportation industry, have indicated extensive support of reforms in transportation laws. By that support, they have shown a preference for preventive maintenance of taxpaying surface carriers before they are faced with the threat of nationalization which would solve no problems, but would place a literally unbearable burden on the nation's taxpayers.

FOOTWEAR FASHIONS
HIT BY MATERIAL
SHORTAGES

Fashion in footwear will take a back seat to the materials available to make them in 1974, predicts The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.

Worldwide shortages of petroleum - derived raw materials for shoe products such as vinyl (PVC), certain synthetic rubber, natural rubber crepe, hides, and color components, will determine styling possibilities, says Herman B. Post, Goodyear Shoe Products Division general manager.

"A beautifully styled shoe means nothing if you can't get sufficient materials to put it together," Mr. Post says. "For the next two to five years designers must consider the availability of popular materials before incorporating them into a shoe style."

Foreign companies face the same supply problems as U. S. firms plus severe inflationary pressures, so foreign footwear costs are rising and imports continue to slow down, according to the Goodyear executive.

Imports will increase only 3 per cent this year to 315 million pairs, according to footwear industry figures.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: The Kind of President Gerald Ford Would Make

WASHINGTON — What kind of President would Gerald Ford make? This is a question we are often asked, as the impeachment of President Nixon becomes more likely.

Ford would not be the brightest President to occupy the oval office, but he would be one of the most decent. There is nothing suave or subtle about him. He would bring an openness and a guilelessness to the White House. He could be trusted.

He would not have as keen a grasp of the paperwork of the presidency as Richard Nixon has. But probably more important, Ford would have a better feel for the human undercurrents.

There is also an all-American quality about him. He has the common touch of Harry Truman, the Easy manner and engaging sincerity of Dwight Eisenhower.

Under Gerald Ford, the oval office would no longer be a storm cellar where the President is constantly engaged in plotting strategy to strike back at innumerable "enemies."

When an aide brought Ford the first news from a UPI ticker that the White House kept an "enemies list," Ford shook his head in disbelief. "If you have so many enemies you have to keep a list," he remarked, "you are in trouble."

He would bring integrity to the White House. He has always refused to accept cash campaign contributions. He has insisted upon checks, which can be properly recorded.

He would be a partisan President, who would attend to his political chores. But he would be able to work in harness with Democratic leaders. As House Republican leader, he had a close workirelationship with the Democrats, particularly Speakers John McCormack and Carl Albert.

Incidentally, the Vice President took the time in Boston the other day to place a quiet, kindly phone call to the ancient and lonely McCormack.

Watergate politics have put Ford in a squeeze. He gave President Nixon a pledge of loyalty before accepting the vice presidency. But he also promised party leaders that he would spearhead the campaign for Republican candidates this year. They needed a leader whom Republicans could rally around. For the President has become a millstone around the neck of the GOP.

Ford, true to his pledge of loyalty, has tried to defend the President. Yet, at the same time, he has sought to divorce the party from Watergate.

The President, according to our White House sources, has suggested to Ford that he tone down his criticism of the way the White House has handled Watergate. The Vice President, in response, has tried to support the President, without completely swallowing the White House line.

Gerald Ford would not be a spectacular President. His style would be Grand Rapids, not Camelot. But he has the warm attributes, which would allow him to sit comfortably on the cold pedestal of power.

THE FORGOTTEN SERGEANT: The Army's slick new advertising campaign, promising enlistees they'll be treated "with respect and dignity," doesn't mention what happened to Sgt. Charles Anthony.

He's a 14- year Army veteran with a wife and eight young children. His wife is seriously ill and one of the children has a critical heart ailment.

He received a routine transfer from Ft. Gordon, Ga., to Ft. Belfoir, Va. He didn't balk at the orders until the condition of both his wife and child grew worse. The doctors said they couldn't be moved.

So Sgt. Anthony asked the Army's Compassionate Review Board to let him stay at Ft. Gordon. But the board, its name notwithstanding, was lacking in compassion. Despite letters of support from doctors at Ft. Gordon, the sergeant was turned down.

He was ordered to report to Ft. Belvoir or take a hardship discharge that would cost him his retirement benefits. Woefully, he obeyed the orders and traveled the lonely 600 miles to Ft. Belvoir.

Still, he believed the Army he had loyally served would realize its mistake and send him back to his family. Instead, he was informed flatly that he was there to stay.

Dr. Peter Cranston of Augusta, Ga., the psychologist who attended the sergeant's wife, told us he warned the Compassionate Review Board that she might attempt suicide if her husband were forced to leave.

The board wouldn't listen and Mrs. Anthony attempted to take an overdose of sleeping pills just as the doctor had feared. Fortunately, she was stopped in time.

But the sergeant, alone and despondent 600 miles from the family who needed him, suffered an emotional breakdown. As we write this, he is hospitalized at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

Footnote: When we made inquiries at the Compassionate Review Board, we heard a loud voice in the background shout: "Don't answer that!" But later the board explained that Anthony was assigned to Ft. Belvoir because of job openings and the nearness of Walter Reed.

RED CHINA'S
DRUG TRAFFIC

Though the Administration continues to deny it, there is overwhelming evidence that Red China is deeply involved in the world drug traffic, as part of its war against civilized values. The evidence is brought together in a recent book by A. H. Stanton Candlin: "Psycho- Chemical Warfare: Chinese Communist Drug Offensive Against the West."

Candlin, a native of Tientsin, North China and a long-time member of the British Foreign Service, summarizes Red China's past involvement in drug traffic. His book is especially valuable because it shows that this involvement continues today.

Candlin believes that the Chinese communists were deeply implicated in the drug offensive carried out against our servicemen in Vietnam. The communists made heroin available very cheaply, because their aim was the subversion of our military, not profit.

In 1972, the Senate Internal Security subcommittee held hearings on narcotics traffic in the world. They received the testimony of Marine Corps Gen. Lewis Walt, who visited many foreign countries to gather evidence. Gen. Walt testified that the Chinese communists were prime movers in the international opium trade.

Refugees from Red China report seeing huge opium plantations on the mainland. It is estimated that the Red Chinese government exports 2,000 tons of opium a year, with 800,000 acres under cultivation.

So far this evidence has been ignored by our government, which wants friendly relations with Peking. But these relations should not be obtained at the expense of our young people and our servicemen whom the Reds are trying to destroy through narcotics. HLH

Campaign spending may be made public

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — An initiative petition drive to place campaign spending reform before voters in November has drawn varied response from elected state officers.

While Gov. Christopher S. Bond, Lt. Gov. William C. Phelps and Auditor John Ashcroft, the only state officer seeking election this year, have endorsed the petition drive, fellow Republican Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth is witholding a decision until reading the petition.

Of the two Democratic state officials, Treasurer James Spainhower is expected to endorse the measure with reservations Friday and Secretary of State James Kirkpatrick, Missouri's chief election official, has said the legislature, which failed to pass a campaign spending reform bill last session, should be given another chance.

The initiative drive if successful, Kirkpatrick said, would cost about $150,000 to place the long and complex proposition on the ballot. He said the legislative process will be the best way of obtaining a workable reform law.

Bond, who endorsed the drive after studying the petition, has refused to call a special session of the legislature for reconsideration of reform as requested by House Speaker Richard J. Rabbitt, D-St. Louis. At the National Governor's Conference in Seattle Tuesday, Bond again reiterated that stance, saying the legislature had been given three chances to pass reform, in 1973, during the special session and this year. The governor said he now believes the initiative drive will be the only way to get reform for the state.

The drive, sponsored by Reps. Steve Ossmeyer, D-St. Louis, John Buechner, R-Kirkwood, George Donegan, R-Springfield, and others along with the Missourians for Honest Elections, needs nearly 65,000 signatures in seven of the state's 10 congressional districts by July 5 to place the proposition on the ballot.

Some officials, including Bond, have expressed doubt that sufficient signatures can be obtained before the deadline, and Senate President pro tem William J. Cason, D-Clinton, has promised to make campaign spending reform a top priority when the legislature convenes next January.

The proposal, if it gains majority approval in November, would go into effect Jan. 1, requiring candidates and political committees to file two reports prior to elections and one afterward.

Records would be required for all contributions although only those of $25 or more would have to be publically reported. Cash receipts would be necessary for all cash contributions over $50.

Labor unions, banks and trust companies would not be permitted to contribute, but their officers could voluntarily contribute through non-profit corporations.

The proposal would limit individual contributions to any candidate to $10,000 or 20 per cent of total campaign expenditure of the candidate, and would limit the candidate or his family to a $35,000 contribution to a campaign, either primary or general. In addition, a person or organization would be limited to a total yearly political contribution of $50,000 for all candidates.

The bill would permit a candidate to spend 25 cents per person voting in the previous state, district or county election or 12 cents for each resident in the state, district or county.

PSC member halts KC rate hearings

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Public Service Commission member who cast the only dissenting vote when the PSC called for new hearings in the Kansas City Power and Light Co., rate case, says he believes the Jackson County Circuit Court may have exceeded its jurisdiction when it overturned the recent rate increase approval.

"Surely every order of this commission is not subject to immediate reveral on substantive issues," Commissioner A. Robert Pierce Jr. said in his dissent, made public Tuesday.

He suggested the state appeal the circuit court order to determine, whether the court had jurisdiction in the matter. The PSC had voted earlier this week, after the court order, to set aside its approval of the $23.8 million rate increase and hold new hearings on June 13.

The issue at hand, Pierce said, is whether Jackson County officials can raise the issues set out in their "after-hearing" briefs, one of which accused the PSC of "sandbagging" the county by authorizing a larger rate hike than initially sought by the utility.

County officials, he added, did not object when testimony was introduced showing that the utility would have a revenue deficiency of $27.6 million.

Syria, Israel sign disengagement papers

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Syria and Israel today signed the documents outlining the procedure for disengagement of their forces on the Golan Heights.

The signing by Gen. Herzl Shafir of Israel and Gen. Adnan Tayara of Syria cleared the way for their forces to begin pulling back within 24 hours.

The signing also gave the goahead for the return of all prisoners of war still held by each side from the October war. The International Committee of the Red Cross said 367 Syrians, 10 Iraqis and five Moroccans were to be flown to Damascus Thursday morning in exchange for 56 Israelis.

Syria exchanged 12 wounded Israelis on Saturday for 25 wounded Syrians and one Moroccan.

Shafir and Tayara negotiated the "operational protocol" they signed today in eight hours of talks last Saturday, Sunday and Monday. It establishes the procedures and timetables to carry out the truce accord and disengagement agreement negotiated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, which the two generals signed last Friday.

Lt. Gen. Ensio Siilasvuo of Finland, whose United Nations peacekeeping troops will man the buffer zone between Syrian and Israeli forces on the Golan Heights, said he was "confident that the disengagement plan will be carried out without complications."

The conference is expected to resume during the summer or fall.

After he spoke, the Finnish general shook hands with the members of the Syrian and Israeli delegations. The two delegations reportedly talked only through Siilasvuo during their negotiations, and there was no conversation between them today.

Ann Landers

Suicidal persons should remember their families

Dear Ann Landers: I am a fairly attractive woman in my middle forties. To the outside world I appear to have everything a woman could want -- a lovely home, beautiful children, a successful husband, and I've even excelled in sports and have won some trophies. No one would suspect that I've gone through periods of severe depression and about two years ago attempted suicide.

I have something important to say to the readers of your column who may have at any time contemplated taking their lives. The information I am about to pass along for free cost me $3,000 in psychiatric bills.

The next time you look longingly at that handgun, or that bottle of pills, or a bridge or window you believe will put an end to your agonies, remember the husband or wife or children or parents you would leave behind. No matter how blameless they may be, they will always think it was their fault that you killed yourself. All the rationalization in the world won't change it. They will carry to their graves the thought that something they did, or failed to do, caused you to take your life.

Do you want to place such a burden on your loved ones? If you commit suicide you'll surely do it. -- Thank God I Didn't.

Dear Friend: The impact of any given letter is, of course, an unknown quantity, but I can tell you for certain that your letter prevented at least one suicide someplace in the world today. Thank you for writing it.

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you won't think this is too far-out to print, but I need an answer. My girlfriend confided in me that since her husband returned from a trip up north their sex life has improved 100 per cent. The "secret," she said, is something he bought for $40 a half pound - powdered mountain-goat horns.

He mixes a half teaspoon of the stuff with a glass of water and drinks it just before he goes to bed. She claims it has performed miracles in their bedroom. I asked if she could spare a little, because my husband has been "too tired" or "too busy" for the last six weeks.

Yesterday when I suggested to Arnie that he try it, he laughed in my face. How come it works for my friend if it's "phony" as Arnie insists? Please check with your experts and let me know. - Cold Feet.

Dear Feet: My "experts" tell me that once the horns are off the goat they are useless, except as wall decorations - if you like that sort of thing.

"Love potions" have for centuries produced a neat income for hucksters. Since all sex activities begin in the mind, anything a person believes in could bring about the desired results. If you can sell Arnie on the stuff it might work for him, too. But he sounds too smart for such hogwash.

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the teen-ager whose dad wouldn't let her drive the car for six months because somebody dented the fender (and there was no insurance) made me realize what a difference there is in fathers.

I, too, had just gotten my driver's license. It was a rainy night and I lost control of the car. I hit an abutment and our 1973 sedan was nearly totalled. The repair bill was about $2,000.

My dad said one thing to me: "Thank God you are all right. I can always buy another car, but I could never buy another daughter." - Lucky Me

Dear You: Double lucky, you mean. Thanks for a heart-warmer.

Election, fiscal reforms key campaign issues

Election and fiscal reforms are the key issues in the campaign of Thomas B. Curtis of St. Louis, who is running for the U.S. Senate. Curtis said Tuesday in an interview in Sikeston that reforms are needed because "the Congress of the United States hasn't been functioning."

Curtis, a conservative Republican, stopped in Sikeston during a swing through Southeast Missouri to talk with the people and find out what they want.

He says people have been telling him that they want the U.S. Congress to get back in the act. "A great deal of attention has been directed towards the president," Curtis said, "but when you analyze the problems, it is Congress that is failing." He added that issues are now getting bogged down in Congress and it is time for reforms, and time to get the voice of conservatism back in the picture.

He wants to get some of the power back to Missouri and local communities. In the process, he believes, the federal government will function better.

"I'm trying to appeal to Missouri Democrats," Curtis said, "who believe in a state and local government, rather than a big federal government." He added that while he is a state candidate, Sen. Thomas Eagleton has become a national Democrat."

Thomas B. Curtis

Congress has been moving the federal government more and more into peoples' affairs, he said. Curtis wants to reverse this trend.

Watergate is one of the issues that has Congress bogged down, he said. He added that Congress is going "to dawdle until the fall election on this issue." In his travels, Curtis has found that people are fed up with the issue of Watergate and just want to "get it over with" one way or another, because in the meantime Congress has been neglecting its other responsiblities.

"I say Thank God for Watergate," Curtis said; "because it has shown people what happens when you concentrate the power in the executive branch." Curtis feels it is a great issue for him, because he has been arguing for election reforms for many years.

He added that he did have to "bear some of the brunt of Watergate" because he is a Republican. But he was quick to add "that is why I am pointing out that the same stuff was going on under the Johnson and Kennedy administrations and that it is the fault of a system.

"It's beginning to be more apparent that they don't have the evidence," Curtis said. He urged the House Judiciary Committee that if they have the evidence to bring it out and get it over with.

Election reforms are Curtis' key issue. The first thing Curtis would do is push for the establishment of a Federal Election Committee to enforce rules and up-date election laws.

The second step, Curtis would take is to push for development of a Congressional budget. He believes that Congress has lost control of the fiscal budget by appropriating money several years in advance. He would urge that Congress set its budget year by year with no appropriation beyond a single year. He said that while in Congress from 1950 to 1969, he was the leader of the economy block.

The third reform Curtis is seeking is elimination of shortages. "The gas shortage should never have occurred," Curtis said. He added that Congress, not the president, had control over interstate commerce. "People are begin ing to understand it is not the president, but the Congress" that is failing Curtis added.

Curtis believes Congress has been failing because of the lack of leadership and because of the seniority system, which he also has a reform for. He advocates that no member of Congress be allowed more than 12 consecutive years.

Part of the problem, with the citizen's disillusionment of Congress, Curtis said, is that Congress has been bribing the farm group, old age group and welfare group with federal handouts. "This is not solving the welfare problem," he said, and "farmers can do most of this themselves if given a fair return on their efforts." He said farmers around the state have told him they don't want the federal handouts.

Curtis is a native Missourian, born and raised in St. Louis. He has served on several presidential-commissions and was in Congress 18 years. Currently he is on the U.S. Advisory Commission on International and Cultural Affairs and the American Bar Association Committee which is doing an in-depth study of legal education.

Education is one of Curtis's primary concerns. He believes the federal government effect on education has been damaging.

Republicans accused of scare tactics

SEATTLE (AP) — The chairman of the nation's Democratic governors has accused Republicans of scare tactics in warning that Democrats could gain a "veto-proof Congress" in the November elections.

"The term 'veto-proof Congress' is merely a cynical ploy to detract from the most important issues of 1974," Gov. Wendell H. Ford, D-Ky., said Tuesday as sharp partisanship broke out at the 66th National Governors' Conference.

The conference ends today with the annual business session at which the governors are expected to adopt a broad resolution urging campaign reform and other measures to deal with Watergate-type abuses, steps already taken by many states.

The conference also is expected to elect Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, D-Utah, as next year's chairman, succeeding Gov. Daniel J. Evans, R-Wash.

The partisan verbal battle began when Kenneth R. Cole Jr., President Nixon's top domestic policy aide, said during a panel discussion Tuesday morning that election of a "vetoproof Congress" might doom the revenue-sharing program.

Then Gov. Winfield Dunn, R-Tenn., chairman of the Republican Govenors Association, said in an interview he was frightened by the thought of a Congress so heavily Democratic it "would give George McGovern and Hubert Humphrey the opportunity to run our country which they didn't get in the 1968 and 1972 presidential races."

"I take strong exception to a thread of political propaganda which has run through this conference from invited members of the present national administration," Ford told a news conference.

He said he considered it "no less than a rude assault against the integrity of all Democratic members of Congress" by implying they will always vote a certain way.

Short of the three-fourths control needed to pass resolutions, Democratic governors at the meeting decided against trying to put the conference on record in favor of a tax cut to fight inflation or to raise any Watergate-related matters other than a bipartisan ethics resolution sponsored by Govs. William G. Milliken, R-Mich., and Patrick J. Lucey, D-Wis.

Instead, they authorized Ford to report they believe the nation needs "tax reform and relief for middle and lower income individuals coupled with selective budget cuts."

Insurance competition will reduce auto rates

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A report by the Missouri Division of Insurance has concluded that competition will cause reduced car insurance rates in the state as a result of the energy crisis.

"All indications are that competition will force insurance rates down," said the report, which was based on testimony gathered during a day-long hearing here in April and is scheduled for distribution next week. "The system is working."

State Insurance Commissioner Edward Farmer, however, advised in his remarks in the 30-page report, that "the public should know that rates do differ and they should shop to make open competition work."

Farmer said the insurance companies in the state appear to be responding well to the energy crisis "even though they have not lowered rates." But he expressed confidence that rates would eventually drop and promised that his office "will do its utmost" to insure that open competition continues in the industry.

Noting that companies must continue to make profits before reducing rates, he concluded that if inflation continues to keep profit margins low, "the Division of Insurance is reluctant to declare that rates are excessive."

State Rep. James P. Mulvaney, D-Jennings, said he was hopeful that the companies would automatically reduce their rates as a result of competitive pressures. Mulvaney, who co-chaired the hearing with Farmer, had warned insurance officials that evidence of declining accident and fatality rates coupled with lower driver miles indicated the necessity for a rate reduction and threatened legislative action if rates were not voluntarily dropped.

"I guess we'll wait and see if they do." He said of the anticipated decreases, "and if things don't look good by January, we'll go back at them."

Reagan busy as conference ends

SEATTLE (AP) — Taking full advantage of the presence of hundreds of reporters, California Gov. Ronald Reagan managed two news conferences, a speech to a Seattle group and an attack on Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in two days at his last National Governors Conference.

Then, he left for California before the conference closed Wednesday with adoption of the governors' policy positions for the next year.

Before he left, he made clear his opposition to the views of a heavy majority of governors favoring national health insurance, a strong federal land use bill and broad action in the field of campaign reform and governmental ethics.

He also left an obvious impression of a 1976 presidential candidacy, though he said at Tuesday's news conference "it is far too early" for talk about his making the race to have much meaning.

Reagan added that if it continues a year from now, he will have to "see how widespread is it, how deep is it and does it warrant my making such a decision."

Reagan, however, carefully avoided testing any of his ideas among his fellow governors. In recent years, he has found himself in a distinct minority on major policy questions, mainly those of a broader federal role on health or welfare, or for increased federal financial help.

Too many of the governors want to take "a tin cup" to Washington, he told the news conference. "They talk states rights but they want it both ways."

He indicated he would take his "states rights" views to the country in the stepped-up national speaking schedule he plans after his term as governor ends in January. Although he wouldn't say so, the theme also seems certain to be a prime one in any future presidential bid.

It indicates he is banking on a belief there is more support in the country for his ideas than among his fellow elected officials. None of the governors supported his attack on Kennedy's health care legislation, and none backed his criticism of fellow Republican Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon on land use.

That may explain Reagan's eagerness to face the press. His Monday session repeated the attack on Kennedy, while the Tuesday meeting began with a statement on land use.

LL games have bit of everything

The second night of season- opening play in the Sikeston Little League baseball program Tuesday featured a little bit of everything, close games, runaways, sharp pitching, wild pitching, heavy hitting and pitching duels.

As normally expected in early season play, the pitchers were ahead of the hitters in many cases but not in all as evidenced by single-team scores of 13,15 and 20.

The highest total was posted in First National Bank's 20-3 margin over Ziegenhorn in American League play. The other American League contest also was one- sided as Ryan Construction banged out a 13-2 decision over Nunnelee Funeral Chapel.

Leading First National's 20- hit, 20- run attack were Jackson with four hits and Melton, T. Sanders, D. Sanders and Smith with three each. Smith also pitched a three- hitter for the mound win and hit a home run. Drake socked a triple for Ziegenhorn's only extra- base hit.

Ryan Construction also matched its run total with 13 hits, including three apiece by Bickford and Rice, who also had a double apiece. K. Howard topped Nunnelee's five- hit total with a home run. Long was the winning pitcher over Beasly.

The tightest game of the night found Flower Basket besting Sikeston Standard in a hard- fought 1-0 battle, The Standard outhit the winners 2-1, but Flower Basket collected the game's only run by Howard. Lambert and Bell had the Standard hits and Hopper got the lone hit for the winners. McClellan was the winning pitcher, Mike Moore the loser.

Malone & Hyde edged Rotary 5-3 in the other Musial League duel. J. Brashear was the mound winner over M. O'Neal.

The Lions Club entry shaded A&B Oil 2-1 in another topnotch pitching battle over in the National League in which the Lions' Brashears bested King of A&B. Longstreet collected the Lions only two hits, and Hampton had both of A&B's safeties.

In the other National League clash, Pizza Inn piled up a 15-3 margin over Legion. J. Laseter, G. Laseter and Lane scored three runs each for Pizza Inn, while G. Laseter and Murphy were the hitting stars with a home run each for the winners. J. Laseter notched the pitching victory over Ferrell.

Home Materials, Hart's winners

Home Materials won a 14-8 slugging match from IBEW and Hart's Bread took a 6-2 decision from Bank of Sikeston in Tuesday night's Junior Babe Ruth competition.

Home Materials banged out 11 hits in its victory over IBEW, including a single, double and triple by Lefler and two hits apiece by Young, the winning pitcher, and Longstreet. IBEW hitters answered with eight hits for eight runs, with Chappell and Barnett collecting two each and Turner cracking a double, but could not avert a mound loss for Pollard.

Hart's Bread batters backed four- hit pitching by Davidson with eight hits and six runs. Kenny Standridge led the way with a double and single and Myrick contributed a double and scored twice. Hampton also had a two-base hit for the winners. Launius led both teams by socking three of Bank of Sikeston's four hits. Braden was tagged with the loss.

The next league action tonight sends Nowell against the Eagles and Elliott-Newton against Davis & Bird.

3 area stars invited to Twin tryout

Two standout members of this year's Sikeston High School baseball team and a former Scott County Central pitching star have been invited by the Minnesota Twins to attend a tryout camp the American League club will conduct June 13-15 at St. Charles, according to Gary L. Howard, 810 E. Gladys St., a Twins scout.

The SHS pair invited to the camp are pitcher-outfielder Mitch Walker and first baseman Jim Saulters. The Scott Central alumnus invited is Morris Karnes of Crowder who now teaches at Scott Central.

Howard said only invited players will participate in the tryouts and that each of the three area standouts have already received letters inviting them to the camp.

Walker, a two- time all-district selection for the Bulldogs, finished his senior season last month with a 6-1 pitching record and a .388 batting average while performing in the outfield when not pitching. His career mound mark for the Bulldogs included 14 wins and only two losses.

Saulters, also a 1974 graduate who played regularly for the last two years, really came into his own as a slugger in the just completed season in which the Bulldogs posted an 18-4 record and reached the regional round of the state playoffs. The 6-2, 195-pound first sacker blasted three home runs in one game and had six for the year while batting .404 with 23 runs batted in.

After graduating from Scott Central, Karnes went on to earn All- American honors as a pitcher for Oklahoma Christian College at Oklahoma City.

Aaron's 16th slam breaks 2 records

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Hank Aaron has become, once and for all, major league baseball's all-time leading home run hitter.

Aaron slugged the 16th grand slam homer of his career—a National League record— against the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night, leading the Atlanta Braves to a 7-3 triumph.

It was the 731st home run of his career, counting regular season, post-season and All-Star games, breaking a tie with Ruth for the all-time lead.

"Jeez, I thought I broke the record last month," said Aaron, with a smile. Then he added, "Now they can start interviewing the guy who is chasing me."

The Atlanta superstar said he hoped things would calm down a little now, and he could get back to thinking about baseball.

"My concentration hasn't been good," he said. "I've been thinking about celebrations and speeches and how to talk to the politicions."

Elsewhere in the National League, the Cincinnati Reds beat the New York Mets 6-3 in 10 innings, the Montreal Expos topped the Houston Astros 5-0, the San Francisco Gaints defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3, the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-0 and the San Diego Padres nipped the Chicago Cubs 6-5.

"I hit a slider, up and in," said Aaron of his grand slam off Eddie Watt, which highlighted a six-run seventh inning rally that broke the game open for Atlanta.

The homer gave Aaron the National League career grand slam record with 16, one more than Willie McCovey. However, he's still a good distance behind the Lou Gehrig's major league mark of 23.

Tuesday night's blast was Aaron's 10th homer of the season.

He has only 29 hits this season but has driven in 29 runs.

Reds 6, Mets 3

Cesar Geronimo drilled a tiebreaking two-run triple in the 10th inning, sparking Cincinnati to victory over the Mets.

Ernie McAnally pitched a five-hitter, struck out six and walked just two as Montreal stopped Houston.

Giants 5, Cards 3

Homers by Gary Matthews and Ed Goodson and standout relief pitching by Elias Sosa carried San Francisco past St. Louis. Lou Brock and Reggie Smith homered for the Cards.

Dodgers 5, Pirates 0

Tom Paciorek slammed a bases-loaded triple to back the five-hit pitching of Tommy John and lead Los Angeles past Pittsburgh. It was John's ninth victory in 10 decisions, The first National League pitcher to win nine games this season.

Padres 6, Cubs 5

Pinch hitter Clarence Gaston's eighth inning homer lifted San Diego past Chicago, ending the Cubs' nine-game losing streak.

American League scores: Oakland 4-1, Detroit 0-4; Kansas City 8, Baltimore 0; Texas beat Cleveland 9-0 on a forfeit; Milwaukee 4, California 3; Boston 4, Minnesota 3 in 11 innings, and Chicago 9, New York 2.

'Beer night' brawl erupts in Cleveland

AP Sports Writer

"We could have gotten killed out there very easily," said umpire Nestor Chylak.

Chylak's hand was bleeding; he had been hit on the head with a chair and he held up a beer bottle hidden inside a paper bag.

"This is the kind of fan Cleveland had out here today," he said.

Chylak and his crew of Larry McCoy, Joe Brinkman and Nick Bremigan forfeited Tuesday night's game to the Texas Rangers when drunk and unruly Cleveland fans, reportedly overloaded with beer that sold for 10 cents as part of a promotion night, stormed the field with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning just as the hometown Indians rallied for two runs and a 5-5 tie. The forfeit goes into the books as a 9-0 Texas victory.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox edged the Minnesota Twins 4-3 in 11 innings, the Milwaukee Brewers nipped the California Angels 4-3, the Kansas City Royals trounced the Baltimore Orioles 8-0, the Chicago White Sox crushed the New York Yankees 9-2 and Oakland and Detroit split a twin bill, the A's taking the opener 4-0 and the Tigers winning the nightcap 4-1.

A crowd of 25,134, turned out in Cleveland. The melee erupted when fans started harassing Texas right fielder Jeff Burroughs and the Rangers left the dugout to go to his aid.

Soon, members of both teams were on the field battling hundreds of fans who poured out of the stands throwing beer bottles and chairs and setting off firecrackers.

Martin said the crowd was a mixture of youngsters and older persons and the main reason the fighting seemed to break out was the beer.

The game had been halted in the sixth and again in the seventh.

Tom Grieve's two home runs helped the Rangers to a 5-1 lead. Ed Crosby delivered a run-scoring pinch single in the ninth and scored the tying run on John Lowenstein's sacrifice fly just before things got out of hand.

Red Sox 4, Twins 3

Danny Cater singled home pinch runner Tommy Harper in the 11th inning after Dick McAuliffe led off with a single.

Brewers 4, Angels 3

Dave May's run-scoring single capped a three-run seventh-inning Milwaukee rally. Bill Singer had checked the Brewers on three hits until Mike Hegan doubled to lead off the seventh.

Royals 8, Orioles 0

Al Fitzmorris checked Baltimore on three hits while Amos Otis and John Mayberry homered for Kansas City.

White Sox 9, Yankees 2

Dick Allen blasted his first grand slam homer in the American League and Bucky Dent added a two-run shot in support of Wilbur Wood's seven-hit pitching.

A's 4-1, Tigers 0-4

A two-run double by Aurelio Rodriguez climaxed a four-run first inning that carried Detroit to victory in the nightcap behind Lerrin LaGrow's six-hit pitching. Joe Rudi homered as Oakland took the opener behind Ken Holtzman's three-hit pitching.

National league scores: Los Angeles 5, Pittsburgh 0; Cincinnati 6, New York Mets 3 in 10 innings; Atlanta 7, Philadelphia 3; San Francisco 5, St. Louis 3; Montreal 5, Houston 0; San Diego 6, Chicago Cubs 5.

NFL grants Seattle $16 million franchise

NEW YORK (AP) — Seattle is the newest member of the growing National Football League family and Commissioner Pete Rozelle promises more action, some of it possibly in present NFL cities that also have fledgling World Football League clubs.

Seattle got the 28th NFL franchise, carrying with it the healthy initiation tab of $16 million, from the owners Tuesday, and joins Tampa, added in April. Both teams are scheduled to begin playing in 1976 although that timetable could be moved up one year, according to Rozelle.

Seattle was selected over Phoenix, Honolulu and Memphis but the losers aren't out of the NFL picture yet. The commissioner said their bids will remain under consideration.

"I wouldn't expect another city to be added this week," said Rozelle, but he added the expansion committee would explore it.

"Future expansion is a totally open deck," he said. "We are not restricting ourselves from going into any city, including current NFL cities. There are no limitations on the cities considered. New York, Chicago and Los Angeles were on our original list as NFL cities to be considered for additional franchises."

Two of those cities have franchises in the WFL and the third, Los Angeles, is home base for the WFL's Southern California club.

"Going from 28 to 30 clubs is probably the next logical step," said Rozelle. Asked if he would favor moving into a city that already had a WFL team, Rozelle said, "Sure, I might be. It depends on the circumstances."

Seattle currently has a new domed stadium under construction.

"It is the 16th largest market in the country and falls into the NFL schedule for the largest cities in the country," said the commissioner. "It is the only part of the country in which we didn't have a franchise."

Rozelle said that the vote to accept Seattle, the lone city recommended by the expansion committee, was not unanimous.

He said the Seattle and Tampa franchises might not be placed in any conference at once. "We're keeping our options open," he said. "We might float them for a year or two. Alignment is a tedious problem."

No ownership decision was announced. Like Tampa, Seattle interests may now formally apply to the league for the franchise.

In Memphis, Mayor Wyeth Chandler said that the failure of the National Football League to grant the city an expansion franchise Tuesday justifies an earlier decision to welcome a World Football League team.

Royals shut out Baltimore; Cardinals lose to Giants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Al Fitzmorris is the first Kansas City Royals pitcher to toss a shutout this baseball season. Bob Gibson continues to have his problems with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Fitzmorris allowed only three hits in beating the Baltimore Orioles 8-0 Tuesday night. Gibson lost to the San Francisco Giants 5-3.

Fitzmorris faced only two batters over the minimum.

Amos Otis got the Royals started when he hit a first inning home run and singled in another run before John Mayberry slammed a three-run homer that climaxed a five-run outburst in the third.

Gary Matthews' two-run homer highlighted the Giants' triumph over the Cardinals. Trailing 4-0, the Cards got three runs in the sixth on a two-run homer by Lou Brock and a solo shot by Reggie Smith. Gibson is 3-6.

St. Louis remains at San Francisco for an afternoon game today. Lynn McGlothen, 7-2, was slated to pitch for the Cardinals and Mike Caldwell, 73, for the Giants.

Kansas City plays at Baltimore again tonight and will send Bruce Dal Canton, 3-3, to the mound against the Orioles' Dave McNally, 4-4.

Target scores established for golf amateurs

CLEMMONS, N.C. (AP) — Target scores for amateurs were set at Tanglewood Golf Club on Monday by open champions Johnny Miller and Susie Maxwell Berning. Both shot sub-par golf in the annual "Round of the Champions."

Miller shot a three-under-par 67 to beat PGA champion Jack Nicklaus, who shot 72.

Mrs. Berning had a 73, one under women's par, to top Ladies PGA champion Mary Mills, with an 82.

The competition, sponsored by the PGA of America, sets target scores for amateurs around the country, who will use their handicaps to try to beat the winners' mark. Revenues from the event are used for caddie scholarships and golf-related charities.

Curtis, who is in New Madrid County jail under $100,000 bond, had failed to secure an attorney from outside of New Madrid County, after the court had granted time for him to do so when he stated he did not a New Madrid County attorney to defend him.

FLEETS STILL HUNT WHALES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Along with 57 other members of the United Nations, this country last year vainly urged that killing whales be suspended for 10 years. Scientists warn that several species of the great mammals are being hunted to extinction.

Since December, however, Soviet and Japanese factory vessels and their flotillas of hunter ships have been in Antarctic waters seeking their annual quotas of whales. But each year the catch grows smaller, and so do the fleets.

Cape man speaks on energy crisis

Phil Kearney of Cape Girardeau, public relations director of Missouri Utilities of Cape Girardeau, spoke on "The American Energy Crisis Part II and Solutions" Tuesday at Ramada Inn to members of the Kiwanis Club.

Kearney, who was a guest of the club several weeks ago, followed up on his previous speech about the energy crisis.

He said there was no shortage of electricity in the Midwest, but rather a surplus of 23 per cent of what was anticipated. Therefore, he said, the public can use all the electricity it needs this summer, including air conditioning.

Next fall, the U.S. will again be faced with a shortage of gasoline for automobiles due to the fact that the refineries in August will be required to produce heating oil for homes and industries, he said. This situation should become more critical during the next 15 years.

The United States has six per cent of the world's population, Kearny said, but its people use one third of the energy of the world. Now other countries are beginning to use more energy and it will be a worldwide problem if things don't improve.

The leaders of this country have known of the energy problems for several years, but have begun to feel it strongly recently, and the country will experience this shortage for at least the next three years, he continued.

The country's new source of energy is electricity, he said. Gas and oil must be used for plastics and may have to phase out their use for homes and industries.

He said the U.S. has been cut back 40 per cent on natural gas for past two years, There have been several inquiries about natural gas in the area, and the company has had to tell company officials that gas could not be guaranteed, but electricity could.

The public needs to know, Kearney concluded, that people can heat their homes and industries with electricity about as cheap as they can with gas and oil.

Kearney was introduced by Jim Will, manager of Missouri Utilities of Sikeston, who had charge of the program.

The Kiwanis will meet next Tuesday morning for election of officers.

Avery honored

Arline Avery, left, who retired Saturday as agricultural representative of the Bank of New Madrid, was honored at a dinner May 29 for his 16 years of service. Sam L. Hunter Jr., president of the bank, thanks Avery for his contributions.

If You Would be Perfect... Come Follow Me

This is the challenge Our Lord gives us. He makes it quite clear that just to believe in Him is not enough. Nor is it enough to merely keep the Commandments.

Over and over again Christ urges us in the Scriptures to strive for perfection. "You therefore are to be perfect, even as your heavenly Father is perfect" (Matthew 5:48) ". . . as the One who called you is holy, be you also holy in all your behavior" (1 Peter 1:15-16).

Yet all too often we excuse our shortcomings and our failure to seek personal holiness by saying "I'm no Saint." We seem to think sainthood is beyond the reach of ordinary people especially today.

But the fact is that Jesus called all His followers to be Saints and the only question is - Shall we accept or reject His invitation to "Come follow me?"

If in your heart there is a desire for perfection - If you really want the joy and assurance of spiritual life - let us send you our free Course of Instruction, "The Kingdom of Jesus." It can give you an entirely new life.

'Carpet equities viewed skeptically'

By CROCKETT SCOTT

As recently as the spring of 1971 some of the hottest corporate equities were "new issues" (initial public offerings of common stock) of carpet manufacturers.

For a variety of reasons -- inflation, the ups and downs of the housing industry, shortages, overproduction and high interest rates -- carpet equities often dipped to lower levels in the market place than common stocks in many other industries.

One of their number which ran into difficulties several years ago but which returned to profitability about a year ago is Aldon Industries of Calhoun, Ga.

Most SEC registered stock market analysts continue to look at Aldon Industries and many other carpet equities with obvious skepticism, if not with a hands off attitude, or utter disdain.

For the brave and the patient, however, and those with cash for high risk placement, the third quarter report of Aldon Industries for the period ending April 30, makes interesting reading.

(The stock is bid presently at about $1.50 per share in the over the counter market, with an asking price of $2.25 per share; while the offering price of the stock several years ago was about $30 per share.)

Net sales of Aldon Rose to $9,224,000 from $7,548,000 in the like period of 1973. Net income advanced in the April Quarter to $357,000 from $252,000 on a per share basis to 22 cents from 16 cents.

Bernard B. Barg, president and chief executive officer, makes the following comments, which not only show the progress of the firm but reflect some of the difficulties of these inflationary and high interest periods common to all industrial firms.

He states, "The company has now reported a significant earnings increase for seven consecutive quarters. Operating income for the quarter before interest charges amounted to $719,000, a 77 per cent rise over the $407,000 reported for the like 1973 quarter.

"The company's improved financial results in the quarter, we believe, primarily reflect Aldon's accelerating momentum. The results were achieved, despite a soft and difficult period for the carpet industry as a whole and despite a sharp rise in interest costs.

"During the quarter our interest payments amounted to $352,000 as compared to $155,000 on the first quarter of 1972, even though the company reduced its bank debt by approximately $1 million.

"An agreement with Aldon's lead banks provided for sharply reduced interest rates through the second 1973 quarter in exchange for warrants to purchase the company stock. The agreement also provided for an increased rate after that time.

"Despite some spottiness in our rate of incoming business during the last seven weeks, our backlog at the end of the first quarter was 27 per cent above the previous year. The spottiness, we feel, was brought about by over ordering due to a fear of shortages during the latter part of 1973 and early 1974.

"Our major concerns at this time are the general state of consumer confidence in the economy, the erosion of discretionary purchasing power due to rapid inflation.

Penney announces income increase

NEW YORK — J. C. Penney Company, Inc., buoyed by a strong April performance, has reported an eight per cent increase in net income for the first quarter over the same 1973 period.

The company had net earnings of $27.3 million for the 13 weeks ended April 27, against $25.3 million last year. This amounted to net income per share of 46 cents, compared with 44 cents in 1973. The 1973 first quarter figures have been restated to give effect, on a polling of interests basis, to the merger in July 1973 with The Educator & Executive Co. of Columbus, Ohio.

As previously reported, the department store and catalog chain's sales for the quarter rose 11.8 per cent to a record $1,453.1 million from $1,299.6 million last year.

Discussing the first quarter performance at the annual stockholders' meeting here, chairman William M. Batten noted the uncertain environment and said the company was "encouraged" by the sales level attained during the period, especially the 14.7 per cent April gain. He explained, "A large percentage of our business is in nondurable goods, such as apparel and household textiles, where sales have held up well."

First quarter results, Batten stated, were adversely affected by continued high interest rates and increased bad debt losses. Interest expense for the quarter amounted to $24.6 million, up 31.4 per cent over the 1973 period, he pointed out.

Excluding the effect of the interest and bad debt factors, the Penney chairman reported that all divisions of the company achieved improved operating results during the quarter.

Batten cited as a positive factor for the retail environment the removal of price and wage controls. "As a result, a better balance between supply and demand of merchandise at all levels is emerging, and that balance is in the best interests of the economy, our company and the consumer," he said.

May sales thus far have continued the encouraging April performance, according to Batten. Looking ahead, he predicted that earnings will be under pressure at least through the first half of the year. He added, "We expect the economy to improve during the second half of 1974. If consumer spending picks up accordingly, our profit performance should improve in the second half."

During the first quarter, the company enlarged store physical plant by 1.5 million gross square feet or 935,000 square feet of net selling space through the opening of 13 retail units. During the comparable 1973 period, store plant was increased by 1.4 million gross square feet or 788,000 square feet of net selling space through the opening of 15 retail units. Square footage for both years takes into account store closings.

Employe motivation difficult

NEW YORK — Eight in 10 corporation presidents in the United States find motivation of both employes and executives a more serious problem today than a decade ago, according to an exclusive study conducted by The Gallagher Presidents' Report, a weekly newsletter to corporate chief executives.

The Gallagher findings are based on a geographic cross section of 251 U.S. businesses.

Company presidents attribute the crisis in motivation to three prime factors: a decline in the work ethic (cited by 64.4 per cent of the presidents polled), the failure of top management to keep lines of communication open (admitted by 46.8 per cent), and the erosive effect of high taxes and inflation on salaries as incentives to workers and executives (blamed by 46.8 per cent). Three in five or 62.1 per cent of the companies now consider the problem serious enough to regularly review productivity in terms of motivational factors.

The motivational crisis shows itself most forcefully in an unwillingness of workers to accept responsibility, according to the findings of the report. This is true in all categories of the work force -- among blue collar workers (scored by 65.8 per cent of the presidents surveyed), white collar workers (noted by 77.1 per cent, and even management (according to 56.4 per cent of the chief executives responding). Presidents attribute low morale among blue collar groups primarily to workers' false concept of the corporate profit motive. Among white collar groups, three in five presidents or 62.6 per cent admit management has failed to keep workers sufficiently challenged.

Salon has new location

CHARLESTON --Margie's Beauty Salon, owned and operated by Mrs. Margie Jones and the Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio and managed by Mrs. Delmar Ferrell, recently moved to a new location, 105 E. Commercial St. Open house at the salon was observed from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

The building, which formerly housed a bank and a savings and loan association, is located next door to the former shop.

An extensive remodeling program, both exterior and interior, was completed shortly before the shop opened at the new location. Harmonizing shades of greens and golds were used in decorating the interior which features a large hair styling department at the front of the shop, and a cosmetic area on the right side. A separate makeup room, lounge area, bath and storage area is housed in the back.

Mrs. Jones has been in business since April 1956. In addition to Mrs. Jones, the shop has two other operators, Mrs. Loretta Robbins and Mrs. Vickie Chandler of Charleston.

Buying must be restrained to fight inflation

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Americans will have to be restrained from buying everything they want to combat inflation, says Treasury Secretary William E. Simon.

Unemployment also may be higher than desirable in months ahead, but that too is necessary for the anti-inflation drive, Simon said Tuesday night.

"A very high rate of inflation is now built into our system. To reduce that inflation to tolerable levels will take time, and it will not be achieved without pain," Simon said.

The Treasury secretary spoke at a meeting of the International Monetary Conference being attended by government and private financial leaders from 21 nations.

Simon said inflation in the economy will last for some time but said he was confident the country could survive it "without crippling effects."

But he said it would be necessary to maintain the economy at less than full capacity, with demand at a level below total potential output.

Simon said that if demand and productive capacity were to continue in balance, inflation also might continue at near the present 12 per cent rate.

"Demand will have to be below total potential output—very close to it, but below," he added.

Simon indicated it will be necessary to have an unemployment rate higher than might otherwise be desired. He said "our labor markets must not be too tight" to help promote a gradual slowdown of the upward trend of pay scales.

A key to restraining demand will be a holddown in government spending, Simon said. He added that he thought Americans would support tough anti-inflation policies because they are tired of inflation.

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Two colonels reportedly led a military revolt against President Hugo Banzer Suarez late Tuesday night, but the government claims the attempt had been smashed.The rebel troops encircled the presidential palace with armored cars, but apparently gave up after palace guards refused to open the gates. Banzer, an army general, was in Sucre, 360 miles southeast of La Paz.

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Police spokesmen speculated today that the kidnapers of an elderly Irish peer and his wife were holding them hostage for five members of the Irish Republican Army on hunger strikes in British jails. Three gunmen seized the 71-year-old Earl of Donoughmore and his wife early today when they returned to their 600-acre estate in County Tipperary after a visit to friends. The kidnapers bundled the couple into a car and drove off in the direction of Dublin, 120 miles northeast.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — After a 3½-year hiatus, President Chung Hee Park's government today resumed the trial of former opposition leader Kim Dae-jung on charges of violating election laws. The charges stem from Kim's campaign in June 1967 for the National Assembly, but the trial was suspended in August 1970 after one month. Kim ran unsuccessfully against Park in 1971, went abroad after his defeat and was kidnaped last August from a Tokyo hotel and returned to Seoul. South Korea's secret police is generally believed to be responsible for that abduction.

TOKYO (AP) — Gen. Ma Ning, an organization man little known outside China, has been named commander of the Chinese air force in another move to repair the damage to the military establishment resulting from the Lin Piao affair. The post had been vacant since the purging of Wu Fa-hsien, a Politburo member who was implicated in Lin's alleged plot to overthrow Chairman Mao Tsetung in 1971.

MPSC issues proposed phone rate reduction

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Proposed rate reductions of up to 39.7 per cent for some long distance telephone calls have been issued by the Missouri Public Service Commission as an alternative to mandatory toll-free service for extended areas.

If the rates are approved, the cost of nearly all toll calls over a distance of less than 23 miles would be cut, the commission said Tuesday, while slight increases of no more than two cents would be levied on calls over longer distances.

The PSC which developed the rate proposal during a study to set up standards for implementation of toll-free extended area service between exchanges, said the lower toll rates would probably be less expensive overall than mandatory toll-free service between exchanges.

Guidelines for establishment of the mandatory toll-free service on a statewide basis, however were also issued Tuesday by the commission. They set forth the minimum number of customers who must favor the change, the minimum number of calls between exchanges and the minimum rate needed to support the service.

Under the reduced long distance rates, for example, a call of 60 minutes over a 10-mile distance would cost $1.81 instead of the current $3.

Tremor shakes Missouri

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An earth tremor centered near Belleville, Ill., shook a large portion of eastern Missouri early this morning, but apparently did little damage, officials said.

Authorities at the St. Louis University seismological center said the quake, which registered 3.5 on the Richter scale, lasted for more than two minutes but could be felt for only about 30 seconds.

Officials said the tremor apparently awakened many St. Louis area residents, but did little more than shake pictures from walls and upset some furniture.

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Bill and Ted took off for a business convention as delegates-at- large; they went without their wives. Their jaunt, however, which was born out of great expectations, died almost immediately out of monotony.

Almost from the start, the long and wearisome drive across country turned out to be one great big bore. All that Bill and Ted saw for miles and miles were miles and miles.

What's more, to add to Ted's tedium, Bill did most of the driving while insisting that he wasn't the least bit tired. Ted's offer to drive was rejected so Ted "ho-hummed" and went to sleep. And, unfortunately, so did Bill a few minutes later. He dozed off at the wheel and their car bounced off the road into, appropriately, a sleepy hollow.

Badly hurt in the mishap, Ted sued Bill for his injuries.

"Falling asleep at the wheel," insisted Ted in court, "was pure carelessness. It's the last thing a motorist should do, and frequently it is."

"He's got one heck of a nerve," was Bill's answer. "If I was careless in dozing off so was he. He had an obligation to stay awake to make sure that I stayed awake. Since he didn't do it, his injuries were as much his fault as mine, and he shouldn't be allowed to collect."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make sleepy Bill pay sleepy Ted for the latter's injuries?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that when a person falls asleep at the wheel of an automobile and has an accident, his passengers can be held guilty of contributory negligence, so as to bar recovery for their injuries, where they do to sleep knowing that the driver, due to the late hour or the length of the trip, might fall also asleep.

The strawberry season has reached it's peak locally but your local grocery will probably have the berries available for some time and there's still the dewberry, blackberry and bosenberry season ahead, bringing to mind the old-fashioned deep-dish cobblers Mom used to make.

This week's column features a basic berry pie recipe, a never-fail pie crust recipe and some delicious strawberry desserts, fancy enough for company dinners or simple enough for family suppers.

Remember that after picking or purchasing berries, sort them, spread in a shallow pan and refrigerate without washing. Wash and hull prior to using.

---

BASIC BERRY PIE

Pastry for two-crust 9-inch pie
3 cups fresh berries
2/3 to 1 cup sugar
2 tbsp cornstarch or 4 tbsp flour
1 tbsp. butter.

Line pie plate with pastry and fill with berries. Mix sugar, cornstarch and a dash of salt. Sprinkle over berries. Dot with butter and then adjust top crust.

Bake at 400 degrees from 40 to 50 minutes.

PIE CRUST

Place ½ cup vegetable shortening in a mixing bowl; add ¼ cup ice water and whip together (electric mixer may be used). Add 1 cup flour. Dough will be rather sticky. Bounce around on floured board until right consistency to roll. This recipe may be doubled or tripled and it always comes out tender and flaky. If some dough is left over wrap it in waxed paper and store in refrigerator until needed. It makes no difference how much you work with it, it doesn't get tough.

RICH STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 tbsp. sugar
3 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
½ cup butter or margarine
1 beaten egg
2/3 cup light cream
3 to 4 cups sugared sliced strawberries
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Sift together dry ingredients. Cut in butter until mixture is like coarse crumbs. Combine egg and cream and add all at once to dry ingredients, stirring only to moisten.

For big biscuit style, spread dough in greased 8x1½ inch round pan, slightly building up dough around edges. Bake in 450 degree oven 15 to 18 minutes or till golden brown. Remove from pan to cooling rack and cool about 3 minutes. With serrated knife, split in 2 layers, lifting top off carefully. Butter bottom layer. Spoon berries and whipped cream between layers and over top. Cut in 6 wedges and serve warm

For individual shortcakes. Turn dough out on floured surface and knead gently half minute. Pat or roll dough to ½ inch. Cut 6 biscuits with fluted cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in very hot oven (450) degrees about 10 minutes. Split shortcakes and butter bottom layers. Fill and top with berries, whipped cream and serve warm.

STRAWBERRY CREAM PIE

1 nine-inch baked pastry shell
½ cup slivered blanched almonds, toasted
1 recipe cream filling (below)
2½ cups fresh strawberries
½ cup water
¼ cup sugar
2 tsp. cornstarch
Few drops red food coloring

Cover bottom of cooled pastry shell with nuts. Fill with chilled cream filling. Halve 2 cups strawberries and pile atop filling.

GLAZE: Crush remaining ½ cup berries. Add water and cook two minutes. Sieve. Mix sugar and cornstarch and gradually stir in berry juice. Cook and stir until thick and clear. Tint to desired color with food coloring. Cool slightly. Pour over halved strawberries. Keep refrigerated until serving time and top with whipped cream if desired.

CREAM FILLING
(for strawberry cream pie)

½ cup sugar
3 tbsp cornstarch
3 tbsp. enriched flour
½ tsp. salt
2 cups milk
1 slightly beaten egg
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
1 tsp. vanilla

Mix first four ingredients. Gradually stir in milk. Stirring constantly, bring to a boil. Reduce heat and cook and stir until thick. Stir a little hot mixture into egg. Return to remaining hot mixture. Bring just to boiling, stirring constantly. Cool, then chill. Beat well. Fold in whipped cream.

STRAWBERRY CHIFFON PIE

1 pint fresh strawberries
½ cup sugar
1 envelope (1 tbsp) unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup hot water
1 tbsp. lemon juice
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
2 egg whites
¼ cup sugar
9-inch graham-cracker crust

Crush strawberries (makes 1¼ cups). Cover with ½ cup sugar and let stand 30 minutes. Soften gelatin in cold water and then dissolve in hot water. Cool. Add strawberries, lemon juice and dash salt. Chill until mixture mounds when spooned and then fold in whipped cream. Beat egg whites to soft peaks. Gradually add ¼ cup sugar, beating till stiff peask form, then fold into strawberry mixture. Pour into crust, chill until firm and top with more whipped cream and berries.

WALNUT COFFEE RING—It's made with refrigerated biscuits.

Perk up dishes with nuts

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Walnuts do wonders for lots of dishes. A cook who likes to take the easy way and make a coffee ring from refrigerator biscuits can do so with walnuts, butter, sugar and flavorings. This is a delicious coffee cake to serve when friends come for morning, afternoon or evening coffee.

One of the best ways we know to use walnuts is in a cheddar cheese spread made with lots of walnuts, pimiento-stuffed green olives, prepared mustard, horseradish and mayonnaise. Exact proportions for this popular spread are in my cookbook, but if you like to improvise you can make it by taste-and-test.

Another delightful way to use walnuts is to add them to a salad. The other night I had one that I particularly enjoyed when I went to my sister's house for dinner. It was a combination of romaine, orange sections, roasted red peppers and coarsely-broken walnuts, dressed with olive oil, white wine vinegar, Dijon mustard, salt and freshly-ground pepper. On complimenting my sister, she laughed and said the salad was one she had eaten some time back at my house!

WALNUT COFFEE RING

¼ cup butter or margarine
Two 8-ounce packages refrigerator biscuits (10 in each package)
1-3rd cup sugar
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2-3rds cup large pieces walnuts

In a 10-inch skillet over low heat, melt the butter; remove from heat.

Cut each biscuit into quarters; add these wedges to the skillet and toss to coat with the butter.

In a small mixing bowl stir together the sugar, orange rind and nutmeg; sprinkle over biscuit wedges; add walnuts; toss together. Spoon into a well-buttered 8-inch (6-cup) ring mold.

Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until browned — 30 to 35 minutes; if top browns too much before end of baking, cover with a sheet of foil. Let stand about 5 minutes at room temperature, then invert on a serving plate and remove mold. Serve warm with sweet butter. If any of the ring is left over it may be wrapped in foil and reheated.

T-BONE TIMETABLE

There's no quick way to produce a T-bone steak. To begin with, it takes nine months until the calf is born. This is followed by another six or seven months with cow and calf on pasture, plus 330 pounds of grain, 70 pounds of protein and 10,000 pounds of hay, silage and grass before the calf reaches weaning weight of 450 pounds. Then follows another four to six months in the feedlot — 2,200 pounds more grain, 360 pounds of protein supplement and 2,300 pounds of hay, silage and pasture before the steer is feedlot-finished at about 1,000 pounds and is ready for slaughter.

LEANEST NOT ALWAYS BEST

The better quality meat can be recognized by the marbling — flecks of fat throughout the lean portions. Meat with no fat at all wouldn't taste as good or have as pleasing a texture.

Coffee Corner by Cherie

I heard someone tell the funniest story at Bridge Club the other day. It was about some middle aged ladies chatting away & discussing the fact that thanks to wigs your hair didn't have to look thin anymore, & thanks to plastic surgery you didn't have to have those wrinkles around your eyes or the sagging chins anymore & thanks to the new makeups your skin could remain moist & dewy& thanks to contact lens you needn't wear glasses anymore, & thanks to the marvelous new foundation garments you could keep your figure in pretty good shape & so on & on. So, they came to the conclusion that they were a pretty lucky bunch of girls to have been born in this day & age when the miracle of science allowed them to continue to look younger than they were by a number of years, where finally, one lady who had been sitting quietly taking all this in looked up & very softly dropped the bomb & their high spirits with the remark, "But what about our minds and glory be, can I ever sympathize with her! I swear, when you never call anybody by the correct name anymore, feed the same dog twice, find the mail in the refrigerator, forget who you've just dialed on the telephone & has to ask who you're talking to when they answer, go to a party the day before your hosts are throwing it, walk out of the grocery store & have to have them ask you to come back & pay for what you've just bought, when you do these things & a number of others I seem to be getting good at, then, I don't care how much science works on my face & body, I believe someone along the line is going to put two & two together & come up with the fact that there goes Cherie, that ole senile middle aged gal that's dressing like a teeny bopper! Lets face it girls, we just can't get ahead!!!

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, June 5, the 156th day of 1974. There are 209 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1940, the World War II Battle of France began.

On this date:

In 1872, a Republican National Convention in Philadelphia nominated Gen. Ulysses S. Grant for president.

In 1876, visitors to the U.S. Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia got their first taste of bananas. Before, bananas rarely had been seen in the United States.

In 1917, more than nine million American men registered for the World War I draft.

In 1947, Secretary of State George Marshall, speaking at Harvard University, outlined a program for Europe's economic recovery which became known as the Marshall plan.

In 1961, the Supreme Court gave its backing to an order that the American Communist Party must register with the Justice Department.

In 1962, Richard Nixon won a Republican primary election in California and became the party nominee for governor of the state.

Ten years ago: President Chung Lee Park of South Korea ordered all colleges and universities in the country closed to try to halt antigovernment demonstrations.

Five years ago: The Soviet Union convened its international Communist conference in Moscow and hailed it as a step toward unity in a divided world.

One year ago: Sharp fighting was reported in South Vietnam despite continuing efforts to get a cease-fire working.

Today's birthday: Former White House News Secretary Billy Moyers is 40 years old.
